FOREIGN AID TO INDIA

THE total external assistance (project, non-project and debt relief) committed to India during the year ending March 1974 was Rs. 11,720 million.

These commitments include Rs. 4,400 million from the soft-lending International Development Association (IDA) of the World Bank, Rs. 800 million from Czechoclovakia and the rest from member-countries of the consortium.

The loan agreements signed in this period included some commitments in advance earmarked for 1974-75 and subsequent years, while the large amount of IDA assistance covers part of the previous year's credits. There was no new United States aid beyond a debt relief of Rs. 230 million during 1973-74.

The gross aid utilisation in 1973-74 on the other hand was estimated at Rs. 7,122·4 million as against Rs. 6,660 million in 1972-73. The net aid (after debt servicing) was Rs. 1,590 million and Rs. 2,000 million in the last two years respectively.

For 1974-75, the gross aid receipts (utilisation) are estimated at Rs. 8,497·9 million but debt services are expected to be heavy.

The countrywise aid commitments in 1973-74 are as follows: IDA Rs. 4,400 million, World Bank Rs. 550 million, Canada Rs. 700 million, France Rs. 560 million, West-Germany Rs. 960 million, Japan Rs. 970 million, U.K. Rs. 1,650 million, USA Rs. 230 million, Sweden Rs. 320 million, The Netherlands Rs. 190 million, Italy Rs. 150 million, Belgium Rs. 50 million, Austria Rs. 2·21 million, Switzerland Rs. 170 million and Czechoslovakia Rs. 800 million.

Taking the Fourth Plan period as a whole (1969-74), the aid commitments totalled Rs. 41,730 million—Rs. 8,340 million a year on an average. The utilisation averaged at Rs. 780 million.

The net inflow of resources has been steadily declining because of the growing debt servicing.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RESERVES

Switzerland : Swiss development assistance is both multi-lateral and bilateral. 30 per cent of the grants for technical assistance and 50 per cent of the loans for financial aid are channeled through the U.N. specialized agencies like UNDP, FAO, WHO, UNICEF, etc. and through the World Bank, IDA, Asian Development Bank, etc.

Loans : Until 1973, the Swiss Government had provided transfer credits to the extent of 265 million Swiss francs and a development loan of 35 million francs (to meet the requirements of foreign exchange for the Obra-Sultanpur-Lucknow 400 kv. transmission scheme).

Grants : From 1961 until 31st December, 1973, the Swiss Government had sanctioned a total of 49 million Swiss francs for development grants to India. For 1973, the amount sanctioned was 7·7 million Swiss francs. This does not include relief or humanitarian assistance.

The main field of co-operation with India are cattle breeding and fodder development projects in Kerala and Punjab, agricultural resettlement schemes in Karnataka and Orissa, irrigation projects in Maharashtra and Karnataka, and assistance to a number of technical schools, agricultural training centres, colleges and hospitals.

United Kingdom : British aid to India has taken two major forms: Long-term loans granted through the Aid India Consortium since its formation in 1958; since 1965, these loans have been interest-free and repayable over 25 years with a seven-year grace period. The second type of assistance provided is in the form of grants through the Colombo Plan since its inception in 1951.

Canada : Since 1951 Canada has extended Rs. 8,600 million ($1,100·6 million) of food and development assistance. Nearly 60 per cent was outright grants and most of the rest took the form of loans on the softest terms available: no interest or other charges, repayment over 50 years and a 10-year grace period. Canada ranks third after the United States and the United Kingdom in total bilateral net aid to this country (disbursements less repayments). Currently India is the biggest beneficiary of Canada's bilateral development assistance programme, with the 1973-74 budgeted figure being nearly Rs. 616 million of $77 million.

1973-74 Programme: A new development loan was signed in July of 1973 for approximately Rs. 377·5 million ($50 million) for the supply of industrial commodities and fertilizers through the years 1973, 74, 75. Funds from this loan would be used to purchase asbestos, lead, newsprint, nickel, rubber, sulphur, wood pulp, zinc and potash. In addition to this, a special loan for Rs. 75 million ($10 million) was signed to provide additional funds for the purchase of increased requirements of potash fertilizer by India. In the power sector, a loan was signed of just under $4 million to assist in financing additional turbine-generator combinations to complete the planned installed capacity of the Canadian assisted Kundah Hydro Electric Project in Tamil Nadu. This loan was accompanied by grants totalling $1·55 million to cover additional costs of equipment and services. Work also proceeded on the Canadian financed Idikki power development in Kerala. In October, 1973, the line of credit to the ONGC which was originally signed in 1971 was extended by an additional $6 million. During the year Canada also continued to finance training for miners and mine management of Hindustan Copper Limited at their Khetri and Kolihan mines in Rajasthan.

Australia : Australian bilateral aid to India from 1951–1974 totalled $A 86·3 million. This has been in the form of outright grants under the auspices of the Colombo Plan. It has consisted of commodities such as wheat, fertilisers, copper and milk powder and wool; capital equipment for development projects; and technical assistance. During this period Australia has provided a total of 1,362 fellowships for Indian nationals to undertake post-graduate and specialised studies. 118 Australian experts have worked in India also.

Upto June 30, 1974, Australian expenditure totalled $86·3 million (Rs. 1,001 million); viz. Emergency Food Aid $A 47·2 million; Economic Development $A 35·6 million; Technical Assistance $A 3·5 million.

West Germany : An agreement was signed for an united loan of Rs. 1,100 million during 1974-75. Almost half of it was earmarked for debt relief.

Netherlands : A general purpose credit for 1973-74 was granted for the amount of Rs. 152·55 million. The repayment will be over a period of 30 years with a grace period of eight years. Interest will be charged at the rate of 2·5 per cent.

It has also agreed to allocate an amount of 45 million guilders for special long-term projects.

Belgium : Belgium has offered an interest free loan of Belgium francs 275 million (about Rs. 50·8 million) for development assistance. The assistance is for the purchase of Belgian goods and services.

Denmark : India has signed a loan agreement with Denmark for a loan of Rs. 670 million. This amount will be utilised for the import of many items needed for the fertiliser, petro-chemical, rubber, electronics etc. industries.

Norway : has agreed to give India an aid of 742 million (41 million Kroner) for the development of fisheries, to promote family planning programmes, delivery of fertilisers and paper for education purposes.

Sweden : Sweden has committed a total assistance of Rs. 613·9 million (335 million Swedish Kroner) to India for 1974-75 and 1976-77. The bulk of the loan will be interest-free untied 50-year loan for financing imports from any part of the world. The agreement was signed on June 5, 1974.

FOREIGN INVESTMENT IN INDIA

BACKGROUND: After World War II, foreign enterprise came to consider India as a potential market, and not so much as a place for undertaking production activity. The processing units in India, hitherto, had been set up by the ruling country. After independence other countries also entered the Indian market with technical collaborations. India did not have much foreign exchange problem then. Due to the foreign exchange shortage in the fifties and sixties the capital transfers out of India became difficult. In spite of that, foreign investment continued to grow and brought in the much needed know-how as regards markets, technology etc., which is more important than capital.

Statistics : There are about 752 corporate bodies in India controlled by foreign enterprises (excluding 32 shipping and air companies). More than 540 are registered in foreign countries and have established places of business in India. These are registered as 'foreign companies', under Sec. 591 of the Companies Act. And nearly 223 corporate bodies are functioning as subsidiaries of foreign enterprises. The value of assets of these corporate bodies is now over Rs. 24,000 million against Rs. 80,000 million for the entire private corporate sector. The value of these undertakings aggregate roughly upto Rs. 25,000 million and contributes nearly 33 per cent of the total production of the entire private corporate sector.

Country-wise Distribution : The total number of foreign companies (as defined in Section 591 of the Companies Act, 1956) in India as on 31st March, 1974 was 540. The countrywise distribution is given below :

United Kingdom 319, U.S.A. 88, Japan 21, West Germany 12, Pakistan 12, Switzerland 10, France 8, Canada 7, Hong Kong 8, Italy 5, Sweden 5, Netherland 6, Australia 3, Belgium 3, New Zealand 3, Panama 2, Yugoslavia 3, Bahama Island 2, Thailand 2, Sri Lanka 1, Kenya 1, Kuwait 1, Lebanon 2, Liberia 1, Luxembourg 1, Philippines 1, Singapore 2, Tanzania 1, Uganda 3, Iran 1, Nepal 2, Aden 1, Greece 1.

INVESTMENT AND REMITTANCES

Investments : Direct investment of foreign enterprise in corporate bodies in India which are under their effective control (excluding companies in which they have minority participation) is about Rs. 5,000 million, which is about 20 per cent of the aggregate value of their assets in India amounting to Rs. 24,000 million. Thus, nearly Rs. 19,000 million have been raised by the foreign enterprises in India from Indian sources. Out of this Rs. 1,000 million was by equity participation by Indian subscribers and Rs. 18,000 million were borrowed from banks, financial institutions, deposits from public and sundry credits.

Remittances: The total amount remitted by foreign firms out of India, profits, dividends, royalties, etc. rose from Rs. 763 million in 1969-70 to Rs. 992 million in 1970-71. The figures for the first nine months of 1971-72 were Rs. 638 million.

Profits remitted by the top nine foreign firms during 1971-72 are given below :

Malayalam Plantations (U.K.) Rs. 10,906,380 ; National and Grindlays Bank (U.K.) Rs. 9,088,493 ; First National City Bank (U.S.A.) Rs. 9,047,781 ; Coca-Cola Export Corpn. (U.S.A.) Rs. 6,057,512 ; American Express (U.S.A.) Rs. 3,656,555 ; Bank of America (U.S.A.) Rs. 3,524,165 ; Assam Frontier Tea Co. EID Parry was the only foreign incorporated Company which made remittances on account of royalty and the amount remitted was Rs. 18,516.

IMPORT AND EXPORT TRADE

EXPORT Targets for 1974-75 : The export target for 1974–75 is Rs. 26,000 million. Exports (including for re-export) during 1973–74 amounted to Rs. 24,560 million. For the broad commodity groups the targets are as follows :

Agriculture and allied products : Rs. 6,050 million ; Tea : Rs. 1,700 million ; Marine products : Rs. 480 million ; All other products : Rs. 3,870 million ; Minerals : Rs. 2,030 million ; Iron ore : Rs. 1,550 million ; Other minerals : Rs. 480 million ; Manufactures : Rs. 10,100 million ; Cotton textiles and jute manufactures : Rs. 3,330 million ; Engineering goods including metals : Rs. 1,900 million ; All other manufactures : Rs. 4,870 million ; Other unspecified exports : Rs. 820 million.

Current Trade Figures : For the first four months of 1974–75 the overall exports amounted to Rs. 9,540 million. This was higher by Rs. 2,930 million or 44·5 per cent over the corresponding figure for 1973–74. The Fifth Plan target for exports is Rs. 78,900 million.

Trend of Exports : The biggest contributor to the rise of Rs. 2,930 million in exports, during the first four months of 1974–75, was sugar. Other items contributed for the export spurt were marine products, cashew kernels, spices, tea etc.

Despite an upward trend in export, the trade deficit had widened during 1974–75. Latest data indicated a deficit of Rs. 5,853·0 million during April/December 1974, compared to a deficit of Rs. 1,641·0 million during the same period in 1973.

Trend in Imports: Imports in the first four months of the financial year (1974–75) amounted to Rs. 10,760 million, an increase of Rs. 3,700 million over the corresponding figure last year. The import target fixed for the full year was Rs. 31,000 million.

Balance of Trade : The country's balance of payments position continues to be difficult in spite of a good performance on the export front as the prospects have been wiped out by steady increase in imports.

BANKING

As many as 1,593 (547 in unbanked centres) new branches were opened between July, 1973 and June, 1974 (against 1,756 during the previous year). Of these, 909 branches were opened by 14 nationalised banks, 297 by the State Bank of India and its subsidiaries and the remaining 387 by other scheduled and non-scheduled commercial banks. The total number of bank offices stood at 16,936 on 30th June, 1974.

In the allocation of credit to the priority sector (including food and export credit), the advances of the scheduled commercial banks had risen from Rs. 22,480 million at the end of March, 1973 to Rs. 30,680 million at the end of March, 1974. Of this amount the share of small industrial units was Rs. 7,000 million at the end of March, 1973 and Rs. 9,260 million at the end of March, 1974.

National Income in 1973-74 fiscal year was expected to be around Rs. 197,240 million at constant (1960-61) prices and Rs. 492,900 million at current prices. The per capita income during the period was Rs. 340 at constant (1960-61) prices and Rs. 850 at current prices. The deposits aggregated at Rs. 107,064 million at the end of June, 1974, showing an increase of Rs. 15,411 million during the year. The credit deposit ratio was 72·7 per cent against 70·6 per cent in the previous year.

Average Population served by commercial banks improved from 40,000 to 33,000 at the end of June, 1974 and to 32,000 at the end of June, 1974. It is 5,000 in Britain, 7,000 in the U.S., 11,000 in Iran and 15,000 in Japan.

Working Results of Public Sector Banks: An analysis of working results of 22 public sector commercial banks (i.e. State Bank of India, its seven subsidiaries and 14 nationalised Indian banks) reveals that their profits of Rs. 123 million for the year 1973 recorded a marginal improvement of Rs. 4 million over that for 1972 as against a decline of Rs. 8 million in the previous year. The total income of these banks increased by 24·7 per cent (to Rs. 7,544 million) during 1973 as compared to a rise of 18 per cent during 1972. The rise in earnings from interest and discount was by 24·6 per cent and the total expenses of these banks at Rs. 7,421 million increased by 25·2 per cent in 1973 as compared to 18·7 per cent in 1972. This was attributed to the income in interest payments on deposits and borrowings and to the rise in the expenditure on salaries and allowances.

State Bank Group: Total income of the State Bank of India improved from Rs. 1,689 million in 1972 to Rs. 2,073 million in 1973. The Bank's expenditure also increased by Rs. 381 million as compared to Rs. 268 million in the preceding year. Consequently, the profits of the State Bank of India at Rs. 41 million in 1973 recorded an increase of Rs. 2·7 million as against an increase of only Rs. 0·7 million in 1972.

The seven subsidiary banks of the State Bank increased their income from Rs. 471 million in 1972 to Rs. 584 million in 1973. Since their expenditure also increased by almost the same extent as the income, their profits showed only a small increase of Rs. 0·2 million.

Foreign Banks: Total income of 11 foreign banks increased from Rs. 669 million in 1972 to Rs. 758 million in 1973, showing a rise of 13·6 per cent over the previous year.

All foreign banks together transferred to their Head Offices an amount of Rs. 32·1 million in 1973 as compared to Rs. 39·1 million in 1972.

Nationalisation of Banks : 14 banks were nationalised by an ordinance on 20th July, 1969 when custodians and boards of directors of each bank were appointed. They continued in office till new boards of directors were announced on December 8, 1972. With the new boards coming into existence, the office of the custodian ceased and its place was taken by a chairman and managing director in each bank who as chief executive presides over the meetings of the board.

BULLION

GOLD : Quest for gold is centuries old, but, it has been available in any real quantity only for the last hundred and twenty years. The gold mined between 1492 and 1970, is estimated to be 73,000 tonnes. But more gold had been mined from 1800 to 1970 than in the preceding 5000 years, due to more discoveries in Brazil, Russia, California (U.S.A.), Australia and South America. Three quarters of the total had been mined in the 20th century, and nearly two-thirds of it since 1931.

International Price of Gold : The price of gold in free markets rose from $130 an ounce in January, 1974, to $190 in January 1975. A contributing factor for the rise was the change in American policy allowing its citizens to hold gold. Another factor was international monetary uncertainties.

In January, 1975, the 126 countries of the International Monetary Fund (IMF) agreed to abolish the official price of gold, thus putting an end to the privileged role gold has been enjoying in the international monetary system for the past 30 years.

The decision opened the way to the elimination of any reference to gold in the IMF statutes and amounted to a new step towards the release of gold stocks held by central banks.

The IMF members agreed to lift the obligation to pay one fourth of their IMF quota in gold. (See end of chapter for Bombay prices) World Gold Holdings: (In million of U.S. $: End of Period)

Gold Consumption: Gold production in the free market in 1973 was 1,120 tonnes. With supplies from the Communist Block amounting to 379 tonnes, the total supply was in the neighbourhood of 1,500 tonnes ; The supply position has remained about the same during 1974. The rise in the free market price is expected to increase this supply.

Compared to previous years, the demand for gold has fallen during the past few years. It touched 1,381 tonnes in 1970 while in 1973 it came down to 1,350 tonnes. Absorption of this in Europe was 780 tonnes and in the rest of the world 570 tonnes.

Of the total of 1,350 tonnes, India absorbed 63 tonnes in 1973 compared to 110 tonnes in 1972, 179 tonnes in 1971 and 217 tonnes in 1970. The demand in India in 1974 is estimated at 40 tonnes. The fall in demand from 1970 peak has been attributed to the steep rise in prices abroad. Most of the gold that came to India was through unauthorised imports.

Official Gold Holdings : The following table shows the value of gold holdings of central banks all over the world (except China, U.S.S.R. and associated countries) in millions of U.S. dollars at U.S. $38 per fine ounce in 1972 and at U.S. $42·22 per fine ounce thereafter.

	30th June 1974	End 1973	End 1972

The value of the total holdings as at 30th June, 1974, based on U.S. $170.000 per fine ounce would have been U.S. $200,661,000,000.

Gold Standard : The true gold standard existed only in the 50 years preceding World War I. Till the 19th century most countries were on silver or bi-metallic (silver 15 or 16 part, gold one part) standard. Britain went into a formal gold standard in 1816, Europe followed in 1870s and U.S.A. started after 1900 — same as India. However, gold standard was only a phase and was over by 1914.

International gold exchange standard prevailed since the last war till 1973. It meant a country's monetary authority responsible for determining and managing the supply of gold to supplement their resources with key currencies, notably dollars and sterling, which could be redeemed for gold.

This picture, however, changed when in February 1973 the U.S.A. devalued its dollar for the second time in 14 months by 10 per cent.

An ounce of gold that for 37 years cost only $35 and which went, officially, to $38 in 1972, was worth $42·22 towards the end of 1973. In reality, no gold was traded at that price. In the wake of U.S. devaluation, the price of gold in London market shot up beyond expectations and the free price of gold at one time even touched $198 per ounce last year.

In 1971, the U.S. withdrew the free convertibility of dollars with gold. Except in France, there had been no restoration of an international gold standard by early 1970s.

India and Gold : Indian gold market is quite different from the international market. India has the world's largest stock of privately hoarded gold. The mobilisation of this gold could effect the international market also. But this is unlikely to happen unless a social revolution takes place. As long as gold prices continue to rise India's economy will remain in the dread of devaluation. As a protective measure, India's hoarded gold should be coaxed into the market and also India's gold output of 120,000 oz. per year should be stepped up.

Free market price of gold which was ruling about $55 p.f.o. in January, 1973, touched $127 on July 6, 1973, and $198 in November, 1974. This rise slackened the demand for gold purchase in India. Actually, the authorised imports of gold to India were practically nil.

Stocks of Gold in India : It was estimated that the total stocks of gold in the country in 1951 was 85·4 million ozs. Since 1951 to December, 1972, the smuggled gold was estimated at 58·1 million ozs., bringing the total stock to 143·5 million ozs. (4,600 tonnes or 46,000 kgs.) as on December 31, 1973.

SILVER : The year 1974 was the most chaotic period in the history of world silver markets. Not only did the price reach a new high of more than double the previous record, but the violence of the fluctuations exceeded all expectations. The long upward spiral of prices which started in late 1971 culminated in a virtual price explosion early in 1974. Thereafter the market subsided somewhat but at year-end was still substantially above opening levels.

World consumption of silver during 1974 for industrial and coinage uses combined, excluding Communist-dominated areas, amounted to about 448,000,000 ounces, a decrease of about 9 per cent over 1973 figures. The industrial consumption was about 415,000,000 ounces 12 per cent less than the previous year, while coinage consumption increased to 33,000,000 ounces from 21,000,000 ounces in 1973. The increase in coinage consumption was largely accounted for by the special Canadian issues for the 1976 Olympics.

For the first time since pre-World War II period the Indian Government early in 1974 legalised the export of silver. This move represented a long-delayed official recognition that extensive silver smuggling operations had been going on for many years. Total exports during 1974 was estimated at about 42,000,000 ounces of which some 25,000,000 enjoyed official sanction. Consumption of silver in India for industrial purposes in 1974 amounted to about 15,000,000 ounces, an increase of 15 per cent over 1973. Although production of silver in India is only around one tonne a year, internal individual reserves held by the public are considered to be very large. Given sufficient price inducement, the reserves should continue to be a source of supply for world markets for many years.

On an average the consumption is esimated at 16,000,000 ounces per year. During 1974 the price of silver reached the highest peak at Rs. 1,420 per kilo on January 7. It came down gradually but again went up from January 1, 1975. The continuous rise during 1975 was mainly due to corresponding increases in the international market.

The demand for silver was confined to local purchases which was slack due to rise in prices.

SECTOR COMMAND

Army : The army is organised into 5 commands under Army Headquarters. Each command is further divided into areas, independent sub-areas and sub-areas. A Command is commanded by a General-Officer-Commanding-In-Chief (called Army Commander) of the rank of Lt. General; Areas by General Officers Commanding (Maj. Generals) and Independent Sub-Areas by Brigadiers.

All these are static commands but each can form a mobile tactical headquarters for exercising operational control over its mobile formations.

[Army Commands with headquarters in brackets: Eastern Command (Calcutta, West Bengal), Southern Command (Pune, Maharashtra), Western Command (Simla, Himachal Pradesh), Central Command (Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh), and Northern Command (Udhampur, Jammu & Kashmir).]

Mobile formations consists of Corps, Divisions, Brigade Groups, Independent Brigades, and Brigades. A Corps Headquarters is placed under a Command Headquarters to command two or more Divisions or a combination of a Division, Brigade Groups and Independent Brigades.

Some units with distinct functions are controlled by Air Headquarters directly.

India's Frontiers : The country has to protect 15,168 Kms. of land frontier — 2,966 Kms. with Pakistan; 3,950 Kms. with Bangla Desh; 3,862 Kms. with China; and, 4,390 Kms. with Nepal. Besides it has a coastline of 5,689 Kms.

Planning : After the shortcomings of the 1962 war with China (Oct. 20 — Nov. 21) the need for better planning and modernisation was urgently felt. In 1964 a new type of a roll-on Five Year Plan was put into action with Rs. 62,000 million. Each year, after a review of the progress, the year that has passed is dropped and one more added.

Spending : Rs. 14,083·6 million were earmarked for defence in 1972–73. According to the Institute of Strategic Studies, London, India spends 3·6 per cent of its Gross National Product on defence. In 1962–63 it was 2·9 per cent and in 1971–72 it was estimated at 3·8 per cent. In 1962–63 the defence budget was Rs. 8,600 million. The amount spent on Research and Development has doubled to Rs. 300 million and is expected to reach Rs. 460 million by 1975–76.

In the Fifth Plan (1974-79) the Planning Commission has allotted Rs. 92,600 million for border roads and defence. It would mean defence expenditure will range from Rs. 16,000 million — Rs. 20,000 million. Normally 30 per cent of this expenditure would be on stores and on this basis, by 1979, Rs. 6,000 million of the defence outlay will be on industrial products.

Strength of the forces : India maintains 828,000 men in 25 divisions of the Army. According to Military Balance (brought out by International Institute of Strategic Studies, London) India has 2 armoured divisions (1,350 tanks), 3 independent armoured brigades, 13 infantry divisions, 10 mountain divisions, 6 independent infantry Brigades, and two para brigades.

The Air Force has 45 squadrons — 10 equipped with modern supersonic aircrafts and 5 helicopter squadrons. The squadrons are estimated to comprise of the following (Source: Military Balance):—2 Squadrons of ch. Bombers, 6 Squadrons F/Bombers — Su7, 2 squadrons of F/bombers HF-24, 7 Squadrons F/Bombers of Hunters, 2 Squadrons of F/Bombers Mysteres, 8 interceptor Squadrons of MiG-21 and eight Squadrons of Gnats. The number of combat aircrafts is 625 and personnel 80,000.

The Navy consists of an aircraft carrier, 4 submarines, 2 cruisers, 24 frigates and destroyers and 8 missile boats. Since 1965 the navy has acquired 5 Petya class frigates, 2 tank-landing ships, a submarine depot ship. The navy has 40,000 men.

Weapons : After modernising the small arms in the mid-sixties the Indian army adopted the U.S. anti-tank recoilless rifles — models 57 and 106 mm — as standard weapons. A newer model — 90 mm calibre — has also been designed.

In artillery, the 130 mm Soviet gun has been adopted. The indigenous manufacture of this gun is being given high priority. Indian Research & Development wing has developed a 105 mm calibre field gun the production of which will be a major project in the coming years. The 75 mm mountain gun is also a product of the Indian Research & Development and has already been accepted as the standard mountain artillery.

In anti-aircraft artillery, India produces L/70 Swedish Bofors which is a rather complicated weapon. Other countries have smaller calibre anti-aircraft cannons which are radar directed like our L/70. Some of these guns are mounted on self-propelled chasis along with the radar and generators for greater mobility. India has yet to acquire and manufacture this system of anti-aircraft protection.

Anti-tank Missiles : The SS-11 and ENTAC anti-tank wire-guided missiles are manufactured by Bharat Dynamics Ltd., Hyderabad. It is reported that India has acquired from Britain the SEACAT surface-to-air missiles and the shorter range TIGERCAT surface-to-air missiles for anti-aircraft protection. India also has the STYX surface-to-surface liquid-fuelled naval missiles and the SA-2 surface-to-air missiles acquired from the Soviet Union. The Indian Air Forces' MiG-21 are equipped with ATOLL air-to-air infra-red missiles manufactured in India.

The Indian Air Force is the fifth largest in the world with the United States, The Soviet Union, China and Poland making up the first four. The MIG-21s will be in service well into the eighties and may be augmented by the MIG-21 Ms which are to be made in India. India also manufactures "Cheetah" helicopters.

In addition Vocational Rehabilitation Centres are at present functioning, one each at Bombay, Hyderabad, Delhi, Kanpur, Jabalpur and Ludhiana for vocational evaluation and imparting adjustment training to physically handicapped persons.

Situation in 1972: Employment in the organised sector went up from 17·49 million at the end of March, 1971, to 17·97 million at the end of March, 1972, an increase of 2·8 per cent the highest rate attained during the last five years. The growth rate in 1970-71 was roughly about 2·5 per cent.

Public Sector : Employment in the public sector which accounted for slightly more than 62 per cent of the total increased by 3·9 per cent during 1971-72 against 3·4 per cent in the previous year. An analysis of the different branches shows employment in quasi-government establishments continued to record the highest growth rate — 9 per cent in 1971-72.

Among Central Government establishments and local bodies also employment growth rates were higher during the year under review — 2·5 per cent and 2 per cent respectively, against 1·7 and 1·1 per cent in the previous year.

However, the growth rate in the State Government establishments fell from 3·9 per cent in 1970-71 to 3·1 per cent in 1971-72.

In absolute terms, employment in the public sector edged up from 10·73 million in March, 1971, to 11·20 million in March, 1972.

Private Sector : In the private sector the quantum of employment remained almost static with a fractional increase of 0·1 per cent over the preceding year. The small growth is due to the transfer of 68,000 workers in the coking coal mines to the public sector.

In absolute terms employment increased marginally from 6·76 million in March, 1971 to 6·77 million at the end of March, 1972.

Unemployment: No reliable estimates of unemployment in the country are available. According to the Committee on Unemployment, set up by the Ministry of Labour and Rehabilitation, there were 18·7 million unemployed persons in India of which 9 million were totally unemployed and 9·7 million had work for less than 14 hours a week. This included 16·1 million in rural areas and 2·6 million in the urban areas.

However, current unemployment is estimated by unofficial sources at 30 million with an annual accretion of about 7 million job-seekers. The creation of new jobs is limited to 20 million in a decade.

It is estimated unemployment will be around 65 million by 1981.

Live registers of the employment exchanges show there were 6·9 million job-seekers in December, 1972. In April, 1973, this figure had increased to 7·3 million.

An estimated 3·3 million of the job-seekers were educated.

The State-wise break-up of the job-seekers indicates that the largest number were in West Bengal — 1·38 million ; followed by Uttar Pradesh — 810,000 ; Bihar — 710,000 ; Maharashtra —600,000 ; Tamil Nadu — 480,000; and Kerala — 450,000.

Job Schemes: Official statistics show that only less than 20 per cent of the target set under the half-a-million jobs programme had been achieved. Of the planned outlay of Rs. 700 million about Rs. 340·5 million was spent until August 1974. The employment generated was only 92,000 under the programme, launched as part of self-employment schemes initiated by the government.

The employment promotion programme, is estimated to have created jobs for 68,159 people. Besides, 4,391 engineers were stated to have been trained as young entrepreneurs. Training was also provided to 1,718 people in agro-service centres.

The figures show that the beneficiaries of package assistance to educated unemployed numbered 89,000.

The main objective of the schemes was intended to create productive and self-generating employment with a minimum investment of government funds on training, seed capital etc.

Job Seekers : As for job-seekers, as on July 1, 1974 (the latest available figures) about 270,000 graduates wanted employment. These included graduates and post-graduates in education (56,283), engineering (20,614), medicine (6,506) and agriculture (9,088).

While all those on the live rolls were not necessarily unemployed, the maximum number (339,000) were arts graduates, followed by science graduates (226,069) and commerce graduates (104,899).

Industrial Relations : Loss of production due to industrial disputes is very large. In 1974, the total man-days lost for various reasons aggregated 31·2 million, a sharp rise of 50 per cent over the previous year's 20·5 million.

In 1974 the Public Sector lost 7·7 million man-days more than twice the 1973 figure. The Private Sector lost 23·5 million man-days, an increase of about 35 per cent over the pervious year.

Indianisation: The process of Indianisation of superior positions in foreign owned controlled companies carrying total monthly emoluments exceeding Rs. 2,000 has registered further progress.

The number of Indians employed by foreign companies rose by nearly four times in 10 years, from 3,161 on January 1, 1963, to 11,116 on January 1, 1973. During the period, the number of non-Indians declined to less than one-fourth 2,934 to 726.

In January 1973, there were 6,388 Indians and 44 non-Indians working with foreign companies on salaries ranging from Rs. 2,001 to Rs. 3,000 as compared to 5,566 Indians and 72 non-Indians a year ago.

During the same period, the total number of Indians drawing emoluments between Rs. 3,000 and Rs. 5,000 increased from 3,487 to 3,683 and the non-Indians declined from 208 to 78.

In the salary group of Rs. 5,000 to Rs. 7,000 the number of Indians increased to 789 and the number of non-Indian employees decreased from 228 to 202.

ENERGY CRISIS

ENERGY is a threefold problem in India. There is a shortage of petroleum because its imports have become too costly; there is a shortage of electricity partly because diesel oil has become a precious commodity and the vagaries of the weather make other forms of generation very erratic; there is also the shortage of coal due to antiquated mining methods and the high cost of transporting it to distant thermal power stations.

The solution of the energy crisis has, therefore, to be a concerted three-pronged attack. To make a beginning in this direction the Government of India has, for the first time, established an Energy ministry. (See Government of India Personnel).

Energy from oil accounts for only 8 per cent of the power consumed. However, since 90 per cent of the oil is used as economic inputs, it is difficult to cut imports. In 1973-74 India imported 16 million tonnes of the total requirement of 23 million tonnes. In addition 2·5 million tonnes of oil products were directly imported.

On January 1, 1974, the price per barrel of crude rose from $3·65 to almost $10. Oil bought by oil companies (apprx. 6 million tonnes) costs $8·65 per barrel whilst oil bought on a government to government basis costs $10·32 per barrel. India imports 11 million tonnes from Iran and most of the rest from Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

Petrol accounts for only 6 per cent of the consumption of oil products in India whilst fuel oil, diesel and kerosene account for 70 per cent. It has been estimated that a 25 per cent drop in consumption of petrol could mean an additional 850,000 tonnes of urea. (For more details see chapter on Petroleum Industry.)

On January 1, 1974, when the posted price of light Arabian crude was increased from $5·036/bbl to $11·651/bbl the world was faced with an energy crisis. The overall effect of this increase on India is crippling.

The average FOB price of imported crude oil today is $10/bbl against $2/bbl in 1973. Whereas the import of crude oil and refined products in 1973 amounted to Rs. 3,414·10 million the import bill for the same products in 1974–75 was estimated at Rs. 13,000 million. (For further details please see chapter on Petroleum Industry).

SOURCE : Draft Fifth Five Year Plan, Vol. II, Planning Commission, Government of India.

Power shortage is predicted to outlive the Fifth Plan period.

According to a survey, only the eastern region will have a comfortable power position by the end of the Fifth Plan (1979). The northern region will continue to suffer a shortage during peak hours of demand but it will have a surplus during the day which will be transferred to the western region.

In the western region there will be a severe shortage of electrical energy right through the Plan. In the south, except for Kerala which will continue to have surplus power, the other states will suffer shortages as in the western region.

Reasons : Plan targets have consistently fallen behind schedule. The slippage in the First Plan was 20 per cent; in the Second Plan 36 per cent; in the third Plan 35 per cent; during the three annual plans 38 per cent, and in the Fourth Plan 54 per cent.

Slippages are due mainly to cost escalations. Costs of power projects increase by 100 to 150 per cent before they are completed eating up the Plan allocations.

Poor maintenance of plants is another reason for power shortages. Instead of periodic maintenance checks and repairs plants are allowed to run till they completely breakdown. The problems of finding the spares and getting foreign exchange for their imports takes up as much as two years.

Poor productivity and high loss of power in transmission are also additional problems. Thermal units in the country produce only 47 per cent of their installed capacity whilst losses in transmission take another 10 per cent.

Remedies: As an immediate measure the Energy Ministry hopes to raise the efficiency of thermal units to between 60 and 70 per cent.

The Bharat Heavy Electricals Ltd., is to devote one fifth of its capacity to the production of spare parts for power stations.

Training of maintenance engineers is to be taken up immediately.

A control room has been set up in the Central Water and Power Commission to keep daily track of the operation of power plants throughout the country and locating and identifying difficulties in individual large generating sets.

In view of the oil crisis a number of measures have been taken to minimise the secondary oil consumption in all thermal power stations and for converting the oil burning stations to coal burning wherever possible.

Power Cuts: Cuts on power consumption during 1974–75 ranged between 25 per cent in Maharashtra to 60 per cent in Tamil Nadu, Punjab, Haryana and Delhi.

Nuclear Power : In the Fourth Plan the commissioning of three plants was envisaged: Tarapur (400 MW); Ranapratapsagar (400 MW) and Kalapakkam (470 MW). However, only Tarapur and one unit of the Ranapratapsagar were completed. Over 40 per cent of the nuclear capacity has slipped into the Fifth Plan. (See Chapter on Atomic Energy).

In the months March to June 1973 there were frequent breakdowns in the Tarapur plant attributed to extreme heat and other atmospheric conditions leading to tripping of wires.

Fifth Plan Projections : It is proposed to raise the installed capacity to 33 mKW by 1978-79 by adding 16·55 mKW of new capacity. 15·14 mKW is expected to be added through State programmes, 0·706 mKW by the Ministry of Irrigation and Power and 0·705 mKW by the Department of Atomic Energy.

The break-up of the type of plants is as follows : Hydro—6,423 MW; Thermal—9,200 MW; Nuclear—705 MW. By 1978-79 the demand, which will be about 28 million KW, is expected to be fully met.

A sum of Rs. 61,900 million (16 per cent of the total development outlay) has been allotted, of which Rs. 33,220 million is for generation; Rs. 20,970 million for transmission and Rs. 10,980 million for rural electrification. The States will spend Rs. 53,430 million and the Centre Rs. 7,380 million.

A special feature will be the introduction of 17,200 MW thermal generating sets to be installed in large capacity thermal stations located in coal fields to restrict transport of coal to the minimum.

The Atomic Energy Commission proposes to introduce the prototype 40 MW Fast Breeder Thermal Reactor it has been developing at Kalapakkam. However, for technical reasons the introduction of these FBTR's must await the creation of the National Water Grid.

Crash Coal Plan : The Government has formulated a crash programme to increase coal production from the present 80 million tonnes to 145 million tonnes by 1978-79 (the last year of the Fifth Plan) at the rate of 12 million tonnes annually. Of this, 115 million tonnes are expected to come from the expansion and restructuring of the existing mines and the rest from new mines, like Singareni in the South, and other deposits in Central India. The government proposes to use the Soviet method of open cast mining for quicker production.

However, during 1974–75 the production of coal was 88 million tonnes against a demand of 90 million tonnes. The production target for 1975–76 has been set at 100 million tonnes. Although during the year under review the Railways had improved their daily loadings of coal wagons the position of coal supply remained critical. The Western Railways had to cancel trains for lack of coal; only 13 of the 36 major cement units had three weeks stocks of coal. 12 of them had only two weeks supply; and the steel plants had only 6 days supply. (Also see chapter on Mines and Minerals).

Transportation : To tackle the bottlenecks a " Control Room " has been set up in the offices of the Railway Board to monitor day-to-day supplies to the thermal stations.

Non-Commercial Fuels : The rural population (80 per cent of the total) rely mainly on non-commercial fuel for its cooking and lighting requirements. The most common non-commercial fuels are vegetable waste, cattle waste, firewood and forest waste. Of the estimated demand of 431 million tonnes of fuel (in terms of coal replacement) by 1978-79, fire-wood and forest waste will supply one third of the requirements, vegetable waste 44 million tonnes and cattle waste 22 million tonnes.

In an effort to put the 400 million tonnes of cowdung burnt annually to greater utility, the Khadi and Village Industries Commission is immediately setting up 20,000 gobar gas plants spread over 2,000 blocks. At present there are 6,250 of these plants in the country. These plants will produce methane gas for cooking and lighting and organic fertiliser equivalent to eight times the production of the Sindri Fertiliser Factory. (See Chapter on Fertiliser Industry.)

The Irrigation and Power Ministry has sought a grant of Rs. 7 million to explore the possibilities of creating energy from hot springs in Himachal Pradesh, West Maharashtra and Ladakh.

OLYMPIC RECORDS

'Citius, Altius, Fortius' — 'Swifter, Higher, Stronger'

In the world of sport, no event can match the OLYMPIC GAMES for colour and pageantry, for tension and excitement, for sheer brilliance of performance — from the days of Coroebus of Elis, a cook who won the first recorded Olympic event in 776 B.C., to the present day.

The history of the OLYMPIC GAMES is rich with famous names. Every four years, in some major city of the world, thousands of Olympians gather for athletic competition. In 1896 Baron Pierre de Coubertin fathered the modern Olympic Games. "The important thing" he said, "in the Olympic Games is not winning but taking part. The essential thing in life is not conquering but fighting well."

PROHIBITION

The AICC under the chairmanship of Dr. Sushila Nayyar adopted a resolution on November 5, 1968 advising all State Governments, and particularly Congress Governments, to endeavour to bring about complete prohibition and to draw up a programme so that the policy be implemented in a period of seven years beginning October 2, 1969.

This directive, however, received a major set back in recent years since the State Governments found that they were losing revenue on one side and incurring heavy expenditure on the enforcement of the policy. As a result there was a gradual shift away from prohibition. Now only Gujarat and Tamil Nadu have total prohibition and the rest of the States have either partial prohibition or are totally wet.

INDUSTRIAL ALCOHOL

It is a very valuable material in the manufacture of acetone, acetic acid, ammunition, ether, chloroform, ethyl acetate, polyethylene, styrene, polystyrene, synthetic rubber, etc. It is also necessary as a solvent in the manufacture of fine chemicals, medical preparations, toilets, etc.

There are at present 104 distilleries with a total installed capacity of 0·55 million kilolitres. On account of shortage of coal and furnace oil the distilleries will hardly work 50% of their capacities.

ARECANUT INDUSTRY

ARECANUT is one of the most important commercial crops of India. It plays an important role in the religious, social and cultural life of our people irrespective of caste, creed or social status. Chewing of arecanut with betel leaves and lime (Thamboolam, Pan Supari) has become a habit with a large number of people and a luxury for many in this country.

Betel-nut (processed arecanut) varieties are numerous in India and can be broadly classified into unboiled, boiled and coloured varieties.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

The chief arecanut growing States are Kerala, Karnataka and Assam. These States account for nearly 90 per cent of the total area and production. It is also cultivated to a smaller extent in certain areas of Meghalaya, West Bengal, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh and Goa. The State-wise break-up of the area under arecanut cultivation is given below.

(In thousand hectares)

Ranking in the World Market : India ranks first in the world both in the area and production of arecanut.

The main arecanut producing countries in the world and their latest available production figures are given below.

Country	Production (Tonnes)
India	151,700
Bangla Desh	21,448
Sri Lanka	56,670

CONSUMPTION

National consumption for the last three years, 1970-71 : 140,748 tonnes; 1971-72 : 146,898 tonnes; 1972-73 : 151,495 tonnes.

The overall average per capita consumption of betel-nut in India is estimated at 0·33 kg. In Kerala it is 0·67 kg. and in Karnataka 0·66 kg. Among the cities, Delhi and Nagpur are two of the most important consuming markets.

EXPORTS

Arecanut is exported in small quantities to countries like Nepal, Kenya, Aden, Saudi Arabia etc. mainly for the use of Indian settlers abroad. The quantity exported during 1969-70 was 226 tonnes valued at Rs. 2·07 million; during 1970-71 it was 252 tonnes valued at Rs. 2·40 million; during 1971-72 it was 292 tonnes valued at Rs. 2·72 million; and during 1972-73 it was 221 tonnes valued at Rs. 1·93 million.

IMPORTS

Production of arecanut in the past had been short of internal demand and sizable quantities had to be imported to fill the gap, but the shortfall has since been almost covered by increasing local production. No major import of arecanut has taken place since 1968-69. However, a small quantity of 90 tonnes had to be imported in 1971-72 and 16 tonnes in 1972-73.

PRODUCTION

The total value of arecanut produced in India is about Rs. 1,000 million. The State-wise break-up of the production is given below :

(In thousand tonnes)

State	1970-71	1971-72	1972-73

GENERAL

Yield per hectare 857 kgs.; cost of cultivation per hectare Rs. 1,420; and gross income earned per hectare Rs. 3,375.

Since production has reached a stage of self-sufficiency investigations are being made to find alternate uses of arecanut besides chewing.

Pilot trials conducted have shown that fat, alcohol etc. can be extracted and products like chewing gum, tooth paste etc. can be prepared from arecanut kernel. The liquid obtained while boiling tender nuts ('Kali') can be utilised for tanning leather. Hard board, wrapping paper, cushioning materials etc. can be made out of arecanut husk. Arecanut leak-sheath can be made use of for making soles and heels in shoe making industry. Arecanut husk is also an excellent poultry litter.

A new high-yielding variety "Mangala" has been released from the Central Plantation Crops Research Institute's Regional Station at Vittal, South Kanara for cultivation. This variety, an introduction from China, gives 70 per cent more yield than that of the best local ones, besides being an early bearer.

There are 26 arecanut marketing co-operative societies located in Kerala, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Maharashtra and Goa.

In view of the fall in prices during 1971 a Central Inter-State Co-op. Marketing Society has been formed under the joint auspices of Kerala and Karnataka Governments for purchasing, storing and selling of arecanut. The society with headquarters at Mangalore has started procuring arecanuts through its eight purchasing centres established in Kerala and Karnataka.

The Directorate of Arecanut and Spices Development of the Department of Agriculture, Government of India, is situated at 1/500, Cannanore Rd., Calicut-673005, Kerala.

FIFTH FIVE-YEAR PLAN

The requirement of arecanut by the end of the V Plan period is estimated to be 160,000 tonnes. No expansion of area is contemplated during the Plan period and slight increase in the production is proposed to be achieved by adoption of intensive cultivation of the existing areas.

Publication : 'Arecanut and Spices' (Quarterly bulletin) brought out by the Directorate of Arecanut and Spices Development, Calicut-673005, Kerala.

AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY : Leading foreign manufacturers, recognising the scope, established assembly plants at Bombay, Calcutta and Madras. But, with Independence, two Indian factories — the Premier Automobiles Ltd. and Hindustan Motors Ltd.— were set up for progressive manufacture rather than for assembly from imported components. In 1953, acting on the recommendations of the Tariff Commission, Government terminated the activities of assemblers and restricted the number of makes and models so as to ensure economic volume of output. Again, on the recommendations made by the Tariff Commission in 1956, Government granted protection to the Industry for ten years with priority for manufacture of commercial vehicles, increased production of diesel vehicles and expansion of capacity of existing units.

The automobile industry depends upon its ancillaries for the manufacture and supply of over 50 per cent of the 5,000 components that go into making an automobile.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY: The bulk of the automobile and ancillary manufacturing units are located in Maharashtra and Tamil Nadu. Of the 17 manufacturers of automobiles, including tractors and two-cum-three wheelers, 6 are in Maharashtra, 4 in Tamil Nadu, with Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Gujarat, Haryana, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Punjab and West Bengal having one each. The pattern of location of the 160 automobile ancillary manufacturing units is 60 in Maharashtra, 33 in Tamil Nadu, 24 in Delhi, 10 in West Bengal, 9 in Haryana, 7 in Gujarat, 7 in Karnataka, 5 in Punjab, 3 in Andhra Pradesh, 1 in Madhya Pradesh and 1 in Rajasthan.

No. of Persons Employed : The main vehicle sector employs over 60,000 in direct employment and the ancillaries in this sector engage the services of over 45,000 people in their manufacturing centres. Total employment is around 3·5 million.

Capital Investment : 2,540 million. In the ancillary industry Rs. 600 million. The investment both in the automobile dealer network and the spare parts trade is approximately Rs. 1,000 million.

G. N. P. of the Industry : The value of the automobile industry's products and services is in the region of Rs. 24,000 million, which constitutes approximately 8 per cent of the total industrial production of the country.

Licensed Capacity : At the end of 1974 was 75,400 commercial vehicles, 47,400 passenger cars, 20,000 jeeps and 172,000 other vehicles.

Cost Structure : The industry continued to suffer from high cost of production as in the earlier year. Raw materials accounted for 59·3 per cent of the total value of production and salaries and wages for 14·1 per cent. Depreciation cost and other expenses accounted for 7·0 per cent and 13·5 per cent respectively.

Defence Vehicles : The Defence establishments manufacture Shaktiman trucks through an agreement with M.A.N. of West Germany and Nissan 1-ton trucks and Nissan (Jonga) jeep type vehicles. The vehicle factory at Jabalpur was established in 1969 for the manufacture of 6,000 Shaktiman 3-tonne trucks and 7,200 Nissan trucks and petrol vehicles per annum. From the information available the current rate of production of Nissan trucks and Nissan petrol vehicles is 200 nos. and 100 nos. per month, respectively.

CASHEW-NUT INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE cashew tree (Anacardium Occidentale), a native of South America was introduced into India by the Portuguese who planted the first saplings on the west coast during the sixteenth or seventeenth century to check soil erosion. Finding a congenial home it grew extensively and is known as 'Feringi Mango' (Feringi meaning Portuguese).

Despite its early introduction the value of the cashew-nut was discovered only in the nineteen twenties when some enterprising farmers sent the nut abroad. There was an immediate demand for the cashew kernel in raw or roasted form which marked the beginning of the cashew industry.

The cashew-nut grows at the bottom end of the cashew "apple". The fruit, when ripe, is juicy and sweet and rich in vitamin C. The juice is used in the preparation of syrup, squash, jam, candy and wine.

The cashew kernel is extracted from the nut by roasting, shelling and peeling scientifically so that every drop of cashew nut shell liquid is drained and collected. This dark brown viscous oil is easily soluble in most of the organic solvents and is an important raw material in the manufacture of insulating varnishes, paints, typewriter rolls, oil and acid proof cold setting cements, industrial flooring tiles, automobile brake-linings and also in the plastic industry.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

Out of about 300 processing factories in the country 264 are in Kerala State and the others in Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and Maharashtra.

Public Sector : The Kerala State Cashew Development Corpn. Ltd. Quilon, opened its first factory in July, 1970 by taking over a factory owned privately. By the end of 1974, the number of factories taken over increased to 34

Ranking in the World Market : India accounts for about 65 per cent of the world export of cashew kernels.

PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION

The yearly local production of raw cashew nuts, according to the Directorate of Cashew-nut Development, is 140,000 tonnes out of which about 100,000 tonnes go to processing factories. The trade estimate of availability of raw nuts for processing is, however, placed at around 70,000 tonnes only.

EXPORTS

A Cashew Export Promotion Council (at World Trade Centre, M. Gandhi Road, Ernakulam, Cochin 682016, Kerala), was set up in 1955.

India used to monopolise the exports of processed cashew kernels until Kenya, Mozambique and Tanzania set up their own units

Cashew industry ranks second to jute in dollar earnings and is regarded as one of the top seven.

Export Duty : There is a one per cent ad valorem cess on exports of cashew kernels. The tariff value for cashew kernels fixed for this purpose for the year 1974-75 (July-June) is Rs. 1,000 per quintal.

IMPORTS

The domestic supply of raw nuts is inadequate to meet the total requirements of the processing factories. The shortfall is made-up by importing raw nuts. This is being done by the Cashew Corporation of India Ltd., a subsidiary of State Trading Corporation, which was set up on August 19, 1970. The raw nuts are sold by the Corporation to the eligible allottees and the sales are conditional on a commitment by the allottees to effect exports of kernels corresponding to the raw nuts supplied. However, there is a grave threat to the continued imports of the required quantity of raw nuts with the progressive utilisation of raw nuts by the cashew industry developed in the different East African countries.

Import of raw cashew-nuts from East African countries and new sources of supplies like Madagascar and West African countries during 1973-74 amounted to 157,554 tonnes valued at Rs. 305·2 million.

The import of raw cashew-nuts during Jan.–Sept. 1974 was 125,426 tonnes valued at Rs. 284·6 million against 137,676 tonnes valued at Rs. 225·9 millions in the previous year.

GENERAL : According to the study made by GATT, a good average crop from a mature plantation tree is around 10 kgs. in East Africa and 30 kgs. in India.

In Africa, the average yield of kernels is about 21 to 24 per cent of raw nut weight, while in India it is slightly higher. Indian processors claim to be able to get upto 70 per cent whole kernels, while the mechanical processing plants in Africa record upto 65 per cent.

The Indian cashew trade has been able to hold its own in the world market because of its competitive price even though some of the African countries have started factories adopting mechanical processes. The poor technology in the cashew industry in Kerala in which the operations are done manually accounts for the investment per worker being as low as about Rs. 300 per worker. Over 90 per cent of the workers are women who perform such delicate operations as shelling, peeling and grading of the nut.

Factories Closed : A majority of the cashew factories including 34 run by the public-sector Kerala State Cashew Development Corporation had been closed indefinitely from January 1, 1975 owing to non-availability of raw nuts.

CEMENT INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

Cement, though it may not have been known by that name, is an ancient building material. Evidence of its use is believed to have been found in the Indus civilisation of Mohen-jo-daro. The Greeks are also known to have made extensive use of it, but it is to the Romans that the credit must go for having evolved concrete from cement.

Although cement was first manufactured in India near Madras in 1904, it was not until 1914 that the foundations of a stable Indian cement industry were really laid. In October 1914, the first bag of cement was packed at Porbandar by the Indian Cement Company Ltd. (Agents: Tata Sons & Co.). This company then had a capacity of only 1,000 tonnes. Today there are 58 units in the country and the capacity is 19·86 million tonnes.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

The State-wise break-up of the units is as follows:

Andhra Pradesh 6, Assam 1, Bihar 7, Gujarat 5, Haryana 2, Jammu & Kashmir 1, Karnataka 5, Kerala 1, Madhya Pradesh 5, Maharashtra 1, Orissa 2, Rajasthan 4, Tamil Nadu 7, and Uttar Pradesh 2.

Public Sector : Out of 58 units 8 are in the public sector. The break-up of these is as follows:

Assam: Assam Cements Ltd.; Jammu & Kashmir: J & K Mining and Mineral Corporation; Karnataka: Mysore Iron & Steel Ltd.; Madhya Pradesh: The Cement Corporation of India Ltd., Mandhar; Orissa: The Industrial Development Corporation of Orissa Ltd.; Tamil Nadu: Tamil Nad Cements; Uttar Pradesh: U. P. Government Cement Factory, one at Churk and the other at Dalla.

Expansion: Production capacity will be increased by 12 million tonnes by the end of the Fifth Plan. The share of large industrial houses will be 4·04 million tonnes, public sector 5·67 million tonnes and about 2 million tonnes will be allotted to others.

No. of Persons Employed : About 85,000 including workers in quarries.

Production Losses : On the basis of 85 per cent utilisation of capacity the production during 1973-74 was about 16·8 million tonnes.

Contribution to Gross National Product : In 1970 it was Rs. 750 million (Approx.).

Ranking in the World Market : India is the 9th largest cement producer in the world. The first eight countries are the USSR, USA, Japan, West Germany, Italy, France, U.K. and Spain.

PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION: In 1974 production was 16·8 million tonnes as against 15·7 million tonnes in 1972. Capacity utilisation in 1974 was 85 per cent.

Regional Anomaly : The cement industry faces a peculiar problem of transport. Cement factories are largely concentrated in the southern and western regions of the country because high grade limestone is more abundantly available there, whilst the demand for cement is higher in the northern and eastern regions.

The northern region contributes 17·6 per cent to the total production and consumes 27·5 per cent. The eastern region produces 17·8 per cent and consumes 21·3 per cent. The corresponding figures for the western region are 28·3 per cent production and 26·0 per cent consumption and in the southern region 36·3 per cent is produced and 25·2 per cent consumed.

Export Incentives : The Central Government announced a cash subsidy of Rs. 80 per tonne of export quality cement to compensate for the use of furnace oil.

GENERAL: 1973-74 was a very bad year for the cement industry which suffered set backs in production, profitability and sales due to drastic power cuts, coal shortage, railway wagon shortage, expensive and limited quantities of furnace oil and controlled prices.

Demand : It is estimated that the gap between demand and supply is likely to widen to 7·3 million tonnes by the end of the Fifth Plan (1978-79).

Training and Research : Industry has set up a research institute called the Cement Research Institute of India at M-10, South Extension II, Ring Road, New Delhi 110016. A well equipped laboratory project with training facilities for scientists will be available at Faridabad, 32 kms. from New Delhi. Basic research in cement technology will be undertaken at the laboratory. The whole project is estimated to cost about Rs. 20 million and is to be completed in 5 years.

COFFEE INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE coffee plant is thought to have originated in the highlands of Abyssinia. About 400 years ago coffee became established as a beverage in Arabia and Turkey from where it eventually came to Europe and to London in 1652.

The plant is believed to have been introduced in India by a Muslim saint who came from Mecca and made his home in Karnataka. Some of the hilly areas of the State where coffee plantations abound even today, bear his name Baba Budan.

Although the saint came to India over a hundred years ago its status as a commercial crop came only with the first British planters around 1850. Now the plantations are spread over vast hilly tracts of Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Kerala.

A small tree with many branches the coffee plant usually reaches heights ranging from 4·57 to 6·09 metres. The fruit is red and contains two interlinked seeds. These separated constitute the commercial coffee berry, and this, roasted and ground, produces the coffee powder.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

Coffee Arabica and Coffee Canephora (Robusta) are the two types of coffee grown on a commercial scale in India. The total area under coffee in the country is 146,458 hectares. The Arabica coffee occupies 88,141 hectares as against 58,317 hectares under Robusta.

Karnataka with 61 per cent of the total area under coffee in the country comes first followed by Kerala with 22 per cent, Tamil Nadu 16 per cent and 1 per cent shared by Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Orissa, Assam, West Bengal and the Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

Of 52,696 coffee estates in the country, 50,767 are small holdings having an area of ten hectares and below. Karnataka has 19,158 small holdings and 1,403 large holdings.

No. of Persons Employed: 236,295.

Ranking in the World Market: Indian coffee contributes about 1·2 per cent of the world trade in coffee. In 1972 the total world exports were 3,475,260 tonnes of which India exported 32,640 tonnes (or 1·4 per cent) valued at 38 million US dollars.

GENERAL

The powder of chicory roots is blended with coffee to enhance its taste. India produces about 6,000 to 7,000 tonnes of chicory roots per year which yields about 4,000 to 4,500 tonnes of chicory powder.

Cultivation of chicory is concentrated in Coimbatore and Nilgiri districts of Tamil Nadu, Jamnagar in Gujarat and Munnar and Vattavada in Kerala. In India the consumption of chicory is around 600 to 700 tonnes per annum.

New Plantation : A coffee plantation on 810 hectares in Paderu forest area of Andhra Pradesh was inaugurated in August 1972 with a view to rehabilitate 600 families of repatriates from Sri Lanka (Ceylon). The Central Ministry of Rehabilitation has given a loan of Rs. 8·1 million to the Andhra Pradesh Forest Department to implement this scheme.

COIR INDUSTRY

COIR is the natural versatile golden fibre extracted from the husk, the outer covering of the coconut. 'Cocos Fibre' popularly known as coir is classed among the industrial hard fibres which cater to the world market in the form of fibre, spun yarn, floor coverings, curled coir, rubberised coir products and rope.

BRIEF HISTORY

The word 'coir' has an historical background. The fact that it is derived from the Malayalam word 'kayar' meaning cord, shows that this material first became known as a product of the Malabar coast. As early as the 11th century A.D. Arab writers have mentioned coir and referred to the uses of this material as ship's cables and rigging. During the 13th century, the great traveller Marco Polo mentioned the method of using coir yarn in the building of ships in the Persian Gulf, which is identical to that prevailing on the west coast of India at the present time.

It was not in India, as one would have thought, but in England that coir was first put to practical use. About 125 years ago three partners of a London carpet firm registered their patents for the manufacture of coir fibre into various fabrics suitable for floor coverings.

The development of the coir industry in India began in 1859 when a simple method of coir spinning and weaving on the coast of Malabar was introduced by an enterprising American of Irish origin. Many others soon followed with the increased demand for coir goods in England and on the Continent. Ever since these humble beginnings, coir products have been improving in quality, quantity and variety.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

The coir industry is mainly confined to the coastal strip of Kerala. However, in recent years, other coconut producing States have also made a start in this profitable industry.

Statewise location of the industry is as follows :

Public Sector : Hindustan Coir Ltd. at Kalavoor near Alleppey in Kerala is the only factory in the public sector. It is run by the Coir Board, and primarily produces coir floor coverings.

No. of Persons Employed: There are about 500,000 persons employed in this industry which is mainly a cottage industry.

Ranking in the World Market: The total volume of coir entering the world trade either as raw fibre or in the form of spun yarn and manufactured products is about 159,420 tonnes. Raw fibre alone accounts for 99,700 tonnes of this while processed coir goods account for only 59,720 tonnes. India's share in world trade of coir and coir goods is as follows: coir yarn 98 per cent, coir manufactures 75 per cent, coir cordages and ropes 95 per cent.

PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION

The world production of coir is concentrated very largely on the western coastal areas of India and Ceylon. These are the only two countries in which widespread commercial production is undertaken even though coconuts are grown in abundance elsewhere. India accounts for about 52 per cent of the total production of the coir in the world.

Estimated annual output of coir in principal producing countries is as follows:

WORLD PRODUCTION OF COIR

Country	Thousand tonnes
India	155·0
Sri Lanka	115·0
Tanzania	8·5
Bangladesh	5·8
Thailand	3·0
Philippines	2·5
Burma	2·2
Kenya	2·0
Seychelles	1·9
Malaysia	1·5
Mozambique	1·0
Morocco	0·5
Total	293·9

The annual production of coir in India is estimated at 155,000 tonnes, of this total 95 per cent is produced in Kerala State and the remaining portion comes chiefly from the States of Tamil Nadu and Karnataka.

The All-India estimated annual production of coir and coir products of different commodities are : Coir fibre : 155,000 tonnes ; Coir yarn : 134,000 tonnes ; Coir products : 27,000 tonnes ; Coir ropes : 20,000 tonnes ; Curled coir : 2,000 tonnes ; Rubberised coir goods : 1,300 tonnes.

In order to expand the home market for coir and coir products, the Coir Board has opened show rooms and sales depots in important cities like Bombay, Calcutta, New Delhi, Madras, Bangalore, Cochin and recently in Madurai, Bhubaneshwar. The Board has also appointed 33 accredited dealers throughout the country.

EXPORTS

Coir export from India is directed to more than 110 countries in the world. The following table indicates the quantity and the foreign exchange (in rupees) earned through these exports during the last three years.

The exports of coir and coir products during April–June 1974 were 10,744 tonnes valued at Rs. 43·45 million.

Export Duty : Coir yarn exports are subjected to an export duty of 15 per cent.

The Coir Industry Act gives powers to the Union Government to levy a cess on export of coir and coir products. At present the cess levied on coir fibre and yarn is at the rate of 98 paise per quintal. Nearly Rs. 290,556 were collected under this head in 1973–74.

To achieve some sort of stability in price index, floor prices have been fixed for the popular varieties of coir mats, coir mattings and coir yarn exported. The prices have been revised with effect from Nov. 1, 1973.

There is a scheme of quality control and pre-shipment inspection to prevent the shipment of inferior goods.

GENERAL

Coir Board (Address: Post Box No. 1752, Ernakulam South, Cochin-682016) having representatives from the industry and Government officials, was established in the year 1953. The function of the Board has been to promote the development of coir industry, to help manufacturers in exporting their finished goods and to carry on propaganda for that purpose and also to assist technological research.

Gross National Product: At the time Coir Board was set up the estimated G.N.P. from coir and coir goods was Rs. 128 million. During 1972-73, the G.N.P. from Coir was estimated at Rs. 350 million, recording an increase of over 170 per cent.

Training and Research facilities: A Central Coir Research Institute was set up in Kalavoor, Alleppey in Kerala to carry on fundamental as well as applied research. Research work is going on a number of projects designed to bring forth improvements to the existing products as also finding new uses of coir.

The Board also set up a National Coir Training and Design Centre at Alleppey to impart advanced and systematic training in the techniques of coir production. An extension service covering the various aspects of coir extraction, processing and manufacture especially spinning, dyeing and weaving was also started.

Rubberised coir producing units have been commissioned in various parts of the country. Rubberised coir is extensively used in the manufacture of mattresses, pillows, moulded cushions, upholstery parts, etc.

Raw Material: The fibrous husk—the outer covering of the coconut is the primary raw material for the coir industry, and as such, the availability of raw material depends on the production of coconuts. World area under coconut cultivation has been estimated at 6,743 thousand hectares and the annual world production of coconuts is reckoned as 30,558·7 million nuts. Philippines is the largest producer of coconuts in the world. India stands third in the list, second being Indonesia.

India produces 6,087·5 million nuts annually on 1,087 thousand hectares that are under coconut cultivation.

30,558·7 million husks were available for industry in the world in 1971-72. In most of the coconut producing countries, coconut is produced mainly for copra, the husks being either buried as fertilizer or discarded. In India itself, it is estimated that out of 6,087·5 million husks available only 50 to 55 per cent is utilised by the industry and the rest is wasted.

In exercise of the powers conferred under section 3 of the Essential Commodity Act, 1955 (10 of 1955) the Central Government has issued orders for the licensing of coir retting places. Government of Kerala accordingly started the scheme of licensing of retting places with effect from December 1, 1969. A new order "The Kerala Coconut Husks Control Order, 1973" under the Defence of India Rules 1971, providing powers to control the prices, production, sale and movement of raw and retted husk was issued on 20th Sept. 1973.

MECHANISATION

The Central Govt. has approved the implementation of a Rs. 150 million scheme for re-organisation of the indnstry.

FIFTH FIVE YEAR PLAN

The Planning Commission has tentatively proposed an outlay of Rs. 24·8 million for Central Scheme and Rs. 130·2 million for State Schemes for the development of the coir industry during the plan period.

Publication: "Coir Quarterly", "Coir News", "Monthly Bulletin of Exports of Coir and Coir Products" and Annual Brochure "India's Production, Exports and Internal Consumption of Coir and Coir Goods", all four brought out by the Coir Board.

COTTON AND COTTON TEXTILE INDUSTRY

COTTON

Brief History: The writings of Marco Polo in the 13th century A.D. and of Tavernier in the 17th century stand testimony to the degree of excellence and perfection achieved by the textile industry in India.

Originally, all cotton cultivated in India grew on the perennial type of plant known as G. Arborium Var Neglectum, which was of Forma Bengalenses in north and western India and of Forma Indicum in central and south India. It is believed that the 'webs of the woven wind'—the world famous Dacca muslin was made from Forma Bengalenses.

Until about the middle of the 18th century Indian textiles reigned supreme in foreign markets. But during the Industrial Revolution in the West, Indian cloth began to lose its overseas market. Realising the significance of the revolution the East India Company changed its role of an exporter of cloth to an exporter of cotton and encouraged a wider cultivation of cotton in India. Thus began the cultivation of cotton as a commercial crop.

AREA UNDER CULTIVATION

India has the largest area in the world under cotton cultivation, which is more than one fourth of the total world acreage.

The area ('000 hectares) under cotton cultivation during last three years was: 1971-72: 7,799·7; 1972-73: 7,704·0; 1973-74: 7,601·4.

PRODUCTION

Among the Indian States, Gujarat normally accounts for more than one fourth of the country's production of cotton, closely followed by Maharashtra. These two States together produce over half the country's cotton.

The production ('000 bales of 180 kgs. each) of cotton during last three years was : 1971-72 : 6,564·0 ; 1972-73 : 5,488·6 ; 1973-74 : 5,819·2.

Research : Established in 1924 the Cotton Technological Research Laboratory at Adenwala Road, Matunga, Bombay 400019, offers facilities for fibre testing and spinning quality evolution of cotton with the result that a large number of improved varieties have been evolved and extended for commercial cultivation.

The laboratory also offers training in cotton technology to sponsored candidates from the textile industry.

More than a century old the industry was started largely as a spinning enterprise and gradually developed into a full-fledged composite one. The first power-mill was set up in Bombay by a Parsi pioneer, Mr. Kavasji Nanabhai Davar, in 1854. From then on the industry has held a vital place in the Indian economy.

No. of Persons Employed : It provides direct employment to about 900,000 (20 per cent of all factory labour totalling 4·6 million). Indirect employment runs into several millions.

Capital Investment : Estimated at Rs. 2,700 million and the annual value of the output amounts to Rs. 25,000 million.

Ranking in the World : India occupies second position in terms of spindles (after the U.S.A.), third as exporter of cotton textiles (after Japan and Hongkong), fourth in terms of cotton consumption (after China, U.S.A. and Russia.)

Following table shows the break-up according to ownership and present status. The remaining are all privately owned.

FILM INDUSTRY

THE Indian film industry ranks first in the world in terms of production, with an average of about 400 films a year. The industry earns annually about Rs. 2,250 million. Of this, about Rs. 75 million is in foreign exchange.

The industry employs about 200,000 persons. There are about 1,800 independent producers, most of them with units either too small or too unwieldy for economic working.

With so many films produced and with an investment estimated at about Rs. 1,000 million in these films, the Indian film industry is one of the biggest private enterprises in the country. It is also the only entertainment industry in India.

As many as 210 colour films were produced in India during 1974—a record compared to 170 in 1973 and 165 in 1972.

The industry paid Rs. 1,150 million by way of taxes the highest of which is Entertainment Tax, to the government. Entertainment Tax varies from State to State. In most States it is around 70 to 80 per cent, while in Maharashtra it is as high as 120 per cent of the price of the admission ticket.

No. of theatres and cinema houses : With only 7,800 theatres (of which 2,660 are touring cinemas) there is an acute shortage of exhibition facilities. With this shortage, a handful of distributors and exhibitors are able to exercise control over the release of films, creating an artificial imbalance.

The number of cinema houses available — 11 for a population of one million — is among the lowest in the world. Theatre rentals are, therefore, heavy.

Finance : It is procured at exhorbitant rates of interest and projects are formulated on the basis of saleability of the stars, the director or the music director. Distribution prices are computed on the estimated realisation on the names of the stars, music director and director of the film.

Films are generally made on borrowed money by independent producers who neither own a studio, nor have any security to offer for borrowed money. Interest rates of financiers are as high as 36 per cent to 60 per cent per annum.

The result is that several projects tend to remain incomplete, for lack of finances or other reasons. Of the 700 films launched in 1969, only 320 were completed and released. Of these, only 10 per cent paid a profit. Another 20 per cent broke even. The rest were flops.

Earnings : There has been a phenomenal increase in box office collections from Rs. 360 million in 1958 to about Rs. 2,200 million in 1974. Of the total box office intake 54 per cent goes to the exchequer by way of taxes and imposts. The exhibitor gets 27 per cent, the producer 15 per cent and the distributor 4 per cent. The distributor is the one who generally has the biggest financial stake in a film, next to the producer.

JUTE INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE Indian jute mill industry, born in 1855 at Rishra on the Hooghly, 21 kms. upstream from Calcutta, was a natural evolution of the centuries old cottage industry of Lower Bengal based on hand spinning and weaving of jute. The banks of the Hooghly offered the best facilities in the world for manufacture of jute goods. By 1885 the Indian industry, with its supremacy in the international markets firmly established, had 6,700 looms in production. Loomage shot up to 30,685 in 1909, to 50,354 in 1927 and to 65,762 in 1949. For a decade or so the industry produced the simplest constructions of sacking cloth. A new line of production—hessian—was introduced in 1870, and the product diversification continued with webbings, cotton bagging, linoleum hessian, jute carpets and rugs, carpet backing cloth, and decorative jute fabrics gradually added to the range. The industry has already modernised up to the spinning stages of manufacture. This, coupled with the improved technology and other rationalisation measures adopted by the industry, has helped it to increase production without increasing loomage. Since 1967 the mills have been producing goods rigidly to ISI standards under the Government's compulsory quality control and preshipment inspection scheme. The industry has been engaged since World War II in research and product development for an answer to the problem of substitution.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

LAC INDUSTRY

LAC is a resinous substance secreted as a protective coating by the lac insect known in scientific terms as " kerria lacca ". It is a unique natural resin, being the only one of animal origin. The insect, about 0·5 mm. long, belonging to the family of scale insects and mealy-bugs, is a parasite which lives and thrives on the sap of certain trees, bushes, shrubs and creepers which are called the ' lac hosts '.

BRIEF HISTORY

The word lac or lakh is derived from the Sanskrit word Laksha, meaning a hundred thousand, believed to be the number of crimson-red insects which play their role in producing a seer of lac. In Vedic times lac was prized for its supposed medicinal properties. Classical Sanskrit literature is full of references to the use of the red lac dye for cosmetic purposes. By the time of Akbar the use of lac for preparing varnishes and lacquer for wood had been well developed. Wood turnery lacquering, ornamental enamelling of brassware, and the making of bangles out of lac have continued to the present day as handicrafts.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

The lac factories are located in the following five States with the number of units in brackets: Bihar (37), West Bengal (33), Madhya Pradesh (20), Maharashtra (7) and Uttar Pradesh (4). (Total 101 units.)

No. of Persons Employed : Bihar : 1,143, West Bengal : 2,332, Madhya Pradesh : 304, Maharashtra : 210, Uttar Pradesh : 83. (Total 4,072).

The lac industry provides side occupation and a valuable source of subsidiary income to the poor adivasis and backward people who employ themselves in its cultivation. The number of such cultivators is between 3 to 4 million.

PRODUCTION

The lac insect is found in most of the near and far eastern countries but is commercially exploited on a large-scale only by India and Thailand. India's share in world production of lac which was about 90 per cent before the Second World War has declined to about 50 per cent and Thailand now contributes more than one fourth of the total world supplies.

The all-India production of lac over the last three years in tonnes was as follows: 1971-72: 27,211; 1972-73: 17,039; 1973 74 : 19,258.

The final report issued by the Directorate of Lac Development, Ranchi, puts the total yield of ' Baisakhi ' lac crop in 1973-74 at 10,100 tonnes of 'Jethwi' lac at 1,380 tonnes, of 'Katki' lac at 5,024 tonnes and of 'Kusmi' lac at 2,754 tonnes.

Bihar has the highest production, 9,465 tonnes in 1973-74 followed by Madhya Pradesh 50,20 tonnes, West Bengal 1,900 tonnes and Uttar Pradesh 1,866 tonnes.

CONSUMPTION

India consumes only about 10 per cent of its annual production. The consumption in tonnes over the last three years was as follows : 1971-72 : 1,519 ; 1972-73 : 957 and 1973-74 : Not available.

EXPORTS

Very early in history, lac dye appears to have reached Greece and Rome. Regular exports to Europe began early in the 19th century for use as a substitute for the more expensive cochineal imported from Mexico. Exports were further accelerated when more uses were found for the resin, such as in the manufacture of phonograph records and French polish.

Indian lac being indisputably the best in quality is sold to over a hundred countries. Over 90 per cent of the total production is exported.

The largest buyers of Indian lac are U.S.A., U.S.S.R., and U.K.

The major functions of the Indian Lac Exporters Association, (6, N. Subash Rd., Calcutta 700001) formed with Government support, are to assist the Government in the fixation of minimum prices of all grades, maintenance of quality and administration of the minimum export price.

GENERAL

For looking after the development and marketing of lac and also for guiding and co-ordinating lac development work in the States, a Directorate of Lac Development has been created under the Department of Agriculture of Government of India with headquarters at Circular Road, Ranchi 834001, Bihar with effect from 1st April, 1966. The Government of India has also constituted the Indian Lac Development Council on which various interests connected with lac are represented. The primary function of the Council is to advise the Government on all matters relating to development of lac cultivation, trade and industry.

The Bihar Co-operative Lac Marketing Federation has been formed in Bihar with the object of giving a price support to the cultivator at the time when the market price falls below certain levels. Similar organisations in other States are in the offing.

Research : To improve upon the technique of lac cultivation and to find out new uses of lac are the responsibilities of the Indian Lac Research Institute at Namkum, Ranchi, Bihar. This Institute is under the control of the Indian Council of Agricultural Research and provides training facilities.

Important Uses : Lac is used in the manufacture of French polish, gramophone records, electrical insulating materials, shellac moulded articles, micanite, hats, grinding wheels, adhesives, cements, wood turning, metal enamelling, printing ink etc.

Crops: There are four crops of lac named after the Hindu months in which the collection of each crop commences. These are 'Baisakhi' and 'Katki' from one strain of the insect (Rangeeni) and 'Jethwi' and 'Aghani' from another strain (Kusmi). Each Rangeeni female produces 0·03 g. of somewhat dark lac, while each Kusmi female makes about 0·07 g. of a more valuable light-coloured lac.

When the matured crop is cut, a portion is kept apart to serve as broodlac for the next crop. The rest, scraped off from the twigs, is sticklac. The first processed product after the crushing and washing of sticklac is known as 'seedlac'. Shellac is manufactured either by melting seedlac mainly in cloth bags held near a fire or by the mechanised process of extraction with suitable solvents.

Publication : 'Indian Shellac' (Quarterly), 14/1B, Ezra St., Calcutta 700001.

MAN-MADE FIBRE INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE Industry in India is hardly 25 years old. First unit to manufacture viscose rayon filament yarn, The Travancore Rayons Ltd., was incorporated in 1945. The actual production started in 1950.

In 1664 Robert Hooke predicted the possibility of Viscose-fibre, but the reality came into being only in 1884 when the father of rayon industry, Count Hilarie de Chadonnet, produced rayon from nitro-cellulose solution. Commercial production started in France in 1891. But the development of polymer 66 and 6 in nylon is comparatively young and was discovered in Germany in 1938.

In 1941, chemists J. R. Whinfield and J. T. Dickson discovered polyester. I.C.I. developed and produced the fibre commercially in U.K. and became an exclusive licencee for polyester fibre throughout the world except U.S. In the earlier days it was the cellulosic synthetic fibre which made the market, but in the last 20 years the more versatile non-cellulosic synthetic fibres have made tremendous head-way.

Position in India : In 1951, one unit was producing about 2,500 tonnes of rayon filament yarn in India. Today there are 9 units engaged in the manufacture of rayon and acetate filament yarn with a total capacity of 38,000 tonnes per annum. There are two units producing rayon staple fibre with a production capacity exceeding 70,000 tonnes per annum. There are also three units which produce rayon tyre cord with a total capacity of 19,000 tonnes per year. There are fifteen units which produce synthetic filament, staple and tyre cord while letters of intent have been issued to sixteen units. On the fabrics side, the production is estimated to be 1,000 million metres.

Investment & Employment : More than Rs. 2,800 million have been invested in this industry. It employs directly about 30,000 persons and provides raw material for the operation of 110,000 power looms and more than 400,000 handlooms.

PRODUCTION : Polyester staple fibre production fell from 10,500 tonnes in 1973 to 7,000 tonnes in 1974. During 1974 the capacity utilisation was 30 per cent.

The five units manufacturing polyester staple fibre — CAFI, Calico, Swadeshi Polytex, Indian Organic and J.K. Synthetics — have a total installed capacity of 24,000 tonnes a year.

In 1973 the fall in production was attributed to a shortage of DMT. In 1974 the IPCL stepped up production of DMT by utilising 75 per cent of its capacity of 24,000 tonnes a year.

The cut-back in production is, therefore, attributed to industry's desire to maintain the ex-factory selling price of polyester staple fibre at Rs. 35 a kg.

Production Targets for Man-made Fibres : The overall production of synthetic fibres may go up from 45,000 to 50,000 tonnes per annum by 1974. Planned estimate for total production of cellulosic and synthetic yarn for 1973–74 is 217,000 tonnes. The break up of 1973–74 estimate is as follows: Rayon filament 64,000 tonnes; Rayon staple 90,000 tonnes; Nylon filament rayon and other industrial yarn 29,000 tonnes; Polyester filament and staple 22,000 tonnes; Acrylic fibre 12,000 tonnes; and man-made fabrics 1,500 million mts.

Per Capita World Consumption of man-made fibre in 1969 (the latest available) was as under (figures in kg.): U.S.A. 11·4; Netherlands 10·7; Canada 8·8; U.K. 7·5; Germany 9·1; Sweden 9·3; Denmark 7·3; Japan 6·3; France 5·6; South Africa 4·1; Spain 3·7; Italy 4·0 and India 0·2. Per capita world consumption of man-mades has risen from 0·8 kg. in 1951 to 3·2 kgs. in 1971.

EXPORTS

During 1973-74 a 300 per cent rise in the exports of rayon and synthetic textiles was recorded. The estimated aggregate exports amounted to Rs. 320 million against Rs. 111 million in 1972-73.

Item-wise break up of export performance was as follows: Fibres Rs. 268·80 million; garments & made-ups Rs. 9 million; hosery and knitwear Rs. 1·0 million; Rayon tyre yarn/cord Rs. 9·20 million; other miscellaneous items Rs. 32 million.

Export Promotion Council: The Silk and Rayon Textiles Export Promotion Council (Resham Bhavan, 78, Vir Nariman Road, Bombay 400020) is playing a key role in encouraging the industry to adapt its production pattern to suit the requirements of export markets. The research and development bill of the Council is devoted specifically to this cause.

RAW MATERIALS : The industry has been experiencing acute shortage of caprolactum. The State Trading Corporation had failed to make long term arrangements with foreign manufacturers for this raw material. Now that there is a world-wide shortage of caprolactum its availability is going to be erratic and costly.

The 20,000 tonne caprolactum plant of the Gujarat State Fertiliser Corporation was commissioned in December, 1973 and the 24,000 tonne DMT plant of the Indian Petrochemical Corporation Ltd., in April, 1973 (See Petrochemical Industry).

GENERAL

Fifth Plan : The annual demand estimated for the man-made fibre industry made by the Association of Man-made Fibre Industry is 295 million kgs. of cellulosics and 115 million kgs. of synthetics, while the Association of Synthetic Fibre Industry places it at 172 million kgs. of cellulosics and 182 million kgs. of synthetic by the end of the Fifth Plan.

A group of Synthetic Fibre industry has submitted a science and technology plan (for the development of the man-made fibre industry in India) to the Government, with an outlay of Rs. 375 millions in the Fifth Plan. This would ensure direct employment of about 200 scientists and technologists.

Research and Training : The Silk and Art Silk Mills' Research Association (SASMIRA), Dr. Annie Besant Rd., Worli, Bombay 400025, conducts research and offers training facilities for various diploma courses to students who have passed the matriculation standard.

OIL-SEEDS AND VANASPATI

OILS and fats play an important role in India's economy. Next to foodgrains, 105 million tonnes valued at Rs. 96,820 million, oilseeds with a current production of 12 million tonnes valued at Rs. 22,000 million is the second largest argicultural crop in quantity and value.

Employment : In 1974 oilseeds were cultivated on 18 million hectares and provided employment to 14 million persons. In addition 0·5 million were employed in milling and processing units.

Exports : Although India ceased to be a net exporter of oils since 1963-64, it continues to export oilcakes. (See end of Chapter for latest export figures.)

The future potential for export is believed to be very good. It is estimated the oilcake needs of western Europe will increase from 19 million tonnes in 1974 to 42 million tonnes in 1989, the end of the Seventh Plan. There is also an increasing need in East European countries.

Demand & Supply : The area under 5 major oilseeds — groundnut, castor, linseed, sesame and rape/mustard — increased from 13·1 million hectares in 1958-59 to 15·3 million hectares in 1962-63 and has remained stagnant at that level ever since.

In the Third Plan the target set for major oilseeds was 10 million tonnes whilst actual production was just 6·4 million tonnes.

The Fourth Plan target was set at 10·5 million tonnes.

Over the same period demand for oils and fats has increased by 1·4 million tonnes due to increasing income and growing population.

The estimated net gap between demand and supply during 1973-74 was 0·7 million tonnes.

During 1972-73 the shortfall between demand and supply was 1·1 million tonnes.

Imports : To partially cover the gap between demand and supply the government has had to regularly import between 0·15 to 0·2 million tonnes of tallow and soyabean oil every year.

At 1972-73 prices the amount paid for imports of these two commodities over the last 10 years ending 1973-74 was estimated at Rs. 3,000 million.

Consumption : Per capita consumption of edible oils has declined from 3·4 kgs. per year in 1958-59 to 2·6 kgs. per annum in 1972-73.

According to the Indian Council of Medical Research the per capita nutritional requirement is 20 kgs. per annum.

Projected Demands : Presuming that the growth rate of income will be maintained at the present level of 5·5 per cent and that the population in 1989 will be 750 million the demand for oils and fats at the end of the Seventh Plan will be 7·2 million tonnes.

This is an increase of 3·9 million tonnes over the demand in 1973-74. Together with the current shortfall of 0·7 million tonnes the deficit will add up to 4·6 million tonnes if supplies remain static at current levels and there are no imports.

The supply figure for the past 15 years indicate a growth rate of only 2 per cent in the supply of local oils. At this rate of growth the supplies in 1989 will increase by 0·9 million tonnes.

Following are some of the encouraging developments that have taken place :

(a) Use of Cottonseed Oil in Vanaspati : Since 1972 more cottonseed oil is being used in the manufacture of Vanaspati. It has increased from 4 per cent in 1959 to 21 per cent in 1972 accounting for 127,000 tonnes. The increased use of cottonseed oil has resulted in the saving of Rs. 270 million in foreign exchange

(b) Non-edible oils for soaps : In 1959 as much as 75 per cent edible oils were used in the manufacture of soap. By 1972 the use of edible oils had dropped to 25 per cent. Efforts have been stepped up to find indigenous sources of non-edible oilseeds. This has not only generated employment in rural India but has saved Rs. 200 million in foreign exchange which would have been spent on the import of 60,000 tonnes per annum of tallow or edible oils.

(c) Groundnut & Sunflower cultivation : The Vanaspati Manufacturers' Association of India (Harilila House, Mint Rd., Bombay 400001), have conducted extension programmes in 14 states covering 25,000 hectares of groundnut plantations. It has been demonstrated that with improved selection of seeds, better water management, soil analysis and treatment and plant protection the yield of groundnut can be increased 40 per cent.

(d) Synthetic Detergents : The use of synthetic detergents in place of soap for washing fabrics is being promoted. Manufacture of detergents do not require scarce oils.

Groundnut Oil : If the improvement of 40 per cent in yield of groundnut can be repeated over the whole acreage in the country it could yield 0·4 million tonnes of additional groundnut oil per annum.

Rice Bran Oil : India produces 44 million tonnes of rice. If all the bran, which constitutes 6 per cent of the weight of the grains, were recovered by solvent extraction the country could produce 0·4 million tonnes of rice bran oil instead of the present 60,000 tonnes.

However, the major impediment is the method used for polishing rice. By polishing rice in a huller the husk and bran gets mixed reducing the oil content to a mere 3 per cent instead of 15 per cent in bran alone. The existing method of polishing rice is depriving the country of 180,000 tonnes of rice bran oil every year, besides the loss of 0·3 million tonnes of rice which is rendered unfit for human consumption by the use of hullers.

The use of more scientific methods of polishing rice could also result in the production of 1·1 million tonnes of rice bran extractions which have an export market worth Rs. 220 million per annum.

Cottonseed Oil : While the production of cottonseed oil has increased to about 180,000 tonnes in 1973, the scope for further increase is substantial.

On the basis of 6·5 million bales of cotton production, the output of cottonseed will be 2·3 million tonnes. With a recovery of 15 per cent oil from the seed the potential oil production should be 0·3 million tonnes or 120,000 tonnes more than the current production.

There is urgent need to discourage the use of cottonseed for directly feeding cattle. For balanced animal nutrition the 18 per cent oil content is too high. All that the cattle need is 1 per cent which is available in the cottonseed meal after recovery of oil through solvent extraction.

Castor Oil : The production of caster oil has increased from 43,000 tonnes in 1959 to 60,000 tonnes in 1973.

Inedible Castor Oil has two significant potentials :

(1) With suitable processing castor oil can be used in the manufacture of soaps to the extent of over 25 per cent thereby relieving to that extent the pressure on other edible oils.

(2) Castor Oil has great export potential as it is used for conversion and in the lubricant industry. India and Brazil are the only major sources of castor oil in the free world. If India can export the oil based chemical equivalent to 20,000 tonnes of castor oil, instead of exporting crude castor oil, the additional foreign exchange earnings would be about Rs. 30 million.

Oil Palm : Grown under expert guidance and suitable conditions oil palm can give higher output of oil per hectare than any other oil seed crop. For instance, whilst groundnut gives 200 kg. of oil per hectare in India and 600 kgs per hectare in most efficient countries, and sunflower gives 360 kgs. of oil per hectare, oil palm gives 1,800 kgs. of oil per hectare in plantations in Malaysia. Conditions suitable for oil palm cultivation exist in Andaman, Nicobar and Kerala.

Sunflower Oil : With proper techniques of cultivation, yields up to 2 tonnes per hectare can be obtained. The estimated average yield from rain-fed (non-irrigated) areas is 800 kgs. per hectare. Since the oil content ranges between 45 to 50 per cent the oil yield per hectare could be higher than other oilseed crops. This is a short-duration crop maturing in 90 to 100 days which could be introduced as a cash crop in multiple cropping patterns. Climatic conditions in the southern states are most favourable for this crop.

Oilcake Exports : India's exports in oilseed, cake meal and other vegetable oil residue had increased both in value and quantity. The export earnings from these products went up to Rs. 1,706 million in 1973-74 as against Rs. 747·70 million in 1972-73. The quantitative rise was from 1·0 million tonnes to 1·22 million tonnes.

During 1973-74, solvent extracted groundnut oil cake earned Rs. 1,211·8 million (795,829 tonnes) against Rs. 585·2 million (735,275 tonnes) during 1972-73. Japan at Rs. 261·50 million constituted the largest buyer during 1973-74 followed by United Kingdom at Rs. 125·40 million, Netherlands Rs. 115·40 million, Poland Rs. 109·30 million and Italy Rs. 100·60 million. USSR, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Federal Republic of Germany, Czechoslovakia, German Democratic Republic, France and Spain were other significant markets. Besides this leading item, solvent extracted cotton seed oilcake (decorticated) secured Rs. 261·70 million (824,774 tonnes), against Rs. 111·90 million (152,447 tonnes). Over 20 countries bought this variety. U.K. again topped the list of buyers at Rs. 35·70 million closely followed by Czechoslovakia at Rs. 35·20 million, Netherlands Rs. 41·70 million, Italy Rs. 26·10 million, Poland at Rs. 24·00 million, German Democratic Republic Rs. 19·90 million, Denmark Rs. 16·80 million, Spain Rs. 15·30 million, Federal Republic of Germany Rs. 14·80 million and Hungary Rs. 12·00 million. Solvent extracted linseed oilcake which was the third best item active in exports earned Rs. 90 million (72,359 tonnes) against Rs. 20·30 million (22,616 tonnes). Netherlands was the principal market for this item, having absorbed worth Rs. 31·30 million, followed by Poland at Rs. 25·70 million and Federal Republic of Germany at Rs. 11·40 million.

PAPER INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE word paper comes from Papyrus a reed growing on the banks of River Nile in Egypt, yet the art of paper making is popularly known to have been invented by the Chinese as early as the third or second century before the Christian era. In India the tradition of making paper by hand can be traced only to the 8th Century A.D. Paper making was considered to be one of the premier domestic cottage industries before the commencement of the British rule. In India the first paper factory was started in Bengal in the latter half of the 18th century by a Christian missionary. The hundred years that followed never saw the laying of a firm foundation for the industry. It was only in 1867 that a real beginning was made when a modern paper mill was established at Bali in Bengal.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY : There are 59 paper and paper board units in the private sector. The Statewise breakup is as follows :

Andhra Pradesh 2, Bihar 2, Gujarat 7, Haryana 4, Karnataka 5, Kerala 2, Madhya Pradesh 4, Maharashtra 13, Orissa 3, Tamil Nadu 3, Uttar Pradesh 3 and West Bengal 11.

There are three rayon grade pulp units all in the private sector situated each in Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu. One paper grade pulp factory is situated in Gujarat.

Public Sector : National Newsprint and Paper Mills Ltd., at Nepanagar, Madhya Pradesh is the only unit that produces newsprint in the country and is able to meet only 20 per cent of the demand.

Security Paper Mill at Hoshangabad, 45 miles from Bhopal, Madhya Pradesh, set up in 1968 in collaboration with a British firm manufactures annually 28,000 tonnes of special quality paper for currency and bank notes.

No. of Persons Employed : About 65,000.

Production : (1972 figures): Paper & Paper Boards —59 units, 924,000 tonnes capacity, 313,338 tonnes production; Newsprint — 1 unit, 75,000 tonnes capacity, 42,048 tonnes production ; Rayon Grade Pulp — 3 units, 123,000 tonnes capacity, 72,776 tonnes production ; Paper Grade Pulp — 1 unit, 22,500 tonnes capacity, 21,591 tonnes production.

There are also 44 pulp and paper mills in the small scale sector producing about 700,000 tonnes annually.

Per capita Consumption : (in kgs.) U.S.A. — 227·25 ; Canada — 140·62 ; Japan — 73·48 ; Australia — 56·24 ; India — 1·58.

By-Products : There are 30 units manufacturing straw and mill boards, 7 manufacturing carbon paper, 3 manufacturing duplicating stencils, one unit manufacturing cardiograph paper, and one new unit manufacturing speciality papers such as tissue, foil lining, airmail etc.

DEMAND BY 1975 : The demand projection for all types of pulp by 1975 in India is about 2 million tonnes. This is based on the presumption that the population of the country will constantly show a rise of 2·4 per cent annually for the period 1965-75 reaching 625 million at the end of the decade.

By 1975 the demand for newsprint is expected to be 312,500 tonnes ; industrial papers — 543,750 tonnes ; and, writing and printing paper — 1,018,750 tonnes.

Crash Programme: The position of additional approved capacity in paper industry in 1974-75 may be summarised as follows :

	No.	Capacity (tonnes Yr.)
Schemes covered by industrial licences (new units)	7	118,760
Schemes covered by industrial licences (substantial expansion) ..	23	142,450
Schemes covered by letters of intent (new units)	55	1,229,010
Schemes covered by letters of intent (substantial expansions) ..	13	209,600
Registered cases	19	60,780
Total		1,760,600

The following units are expected to complete their schemes during 1974-75 and 1975-76 :

Name of unit	Capacity (tonnes year)
Ashok Paper Mills Assam ..	27,000
— do. — Bihar ..	13,000
Laxmi Board	22,500
Central Pulp Mills	17,500	(part completion up to 7,000 tonnes only)
Star Paper Mills	6,000
Titaghur Paper Mills	6,500
West Coast Paper Mills	15,000
Andhra Pradesh Paper Mills ..	15,000

It was expected that an additional production of at least 30,000 tonnes would be added by these units during 1974-75.

Hindustan Paper Corporation Ltd. (Registered Office: B-20, Greater Kailash-1, New Delhi-110048) was established in June 1970. The Central Government had provided Rs. 346·70 million during 1974-75 for schemes to tide over the paper shortage.

The plant in Nagaland with 30,000 tonnes per year capacity is scheduled to go into production in early 1976. Other approved projects were a newsprint plant in Kerala with 80,000 tonnes a year capacity and the taking over and expansion of Mandya National Paper Mills from 30 to 200 tonnes a day.

Newsprint Import: During 1974-75 an estimated 245,000 tonnes were imported to meet the country's current needs of 350,000 tonnes. The import bill amounted to Rs. 205 million. The government had imposed a 30 per cent cut in the quota of newsprint users, which was subsequently reduced to 23 per cent. 15 per cent of this cut is restored in the current newsprint licensing policy for April 1975–March 1976.

Newsprint Production : The NEPA plant had undertaken to supply 47,000 tonnes of newsprint during 1974-75. The Government is considering a proposal to expand NEPA's annual capacity to 75,000 tonnes.

During 1974-75 the Government had also approved six schemes for the manufacture of newsprint. They were : 1. Ballarpur Paper and Straw Board Mills Limited, New Delhi (location : Himachal Pradesh, capacity 60,000 tonnes) ; 2. Suraj Industrial Packing Limited, Lucknow (60,000 tonnes) ; 3. Hindustan Paper Corporation, New Delhi (Kerala, 80,000 tonnes) ; 4. West Bengal Industrial Development Corporation, Calcutta (200 tonnes per day) ; Ramganga Pulp and Paper Mills Limited, New Delhi (Uttar Pradesh : 30,000 tonnes) ; and 6. Hargolal and Sons, Ambala Cantonment (30,000 tonnes).

GENERAL

Hand-made paper : There are 314 units producing hand-made paper. There are 3,407 full-time workers, 558 part-timers and 149 casual hands in this industry. The output of hand-made paper in 1970-71 was 3,071 tonnes.

Paper Mill Plant : The planned development of the paper and pulp industry is dependent upon the indigenous manufacture of paper making machinery. Four such units are producing all the machinery required in the country, with an import content of 50 to 60 per cent. Besides these there are several other units categorised as ancillaries making only certain parts of the machinery.

Training : Paper technology is taught at (1) Birla Institute of Technology and Science, Pilani, Rajasthan (Degree); (2) Forest Research Institute, Dehra Dun, Uttar Pradesh (Diploma) ; (3) Institute of Paper Technology, Saharanpur, Uttar Pradesh (Diploma and Certificate).

Research : Forest Research Institute, Dehra Dun, Uttar Pradesh is the only well-equipped research body. However, many large mills conduct research for their own requirements.

PETRO-CHEMICAL INDUSTRY

PETRO-CHEMICALS are essentially the chemical compounds derived from petroleum sources. The common techniques employed in petro-chemicals manufacture are the thermal and catalytic cracking, oxidation, hydrogenation, isomerisation and other related processes. Apart from these, the manufacture of petro-chemicals involves the application of a number of continuous physical operations, such as distillation, extraction, crystallisation, etc.

As a result of rapid developments in the field of petrochemicals, a network of industries, such as plastics, synthetic rubber, dyestuffs, intermediates, fertilisers, synthetic fibres, synthetic detergents, etc. have come into existence and have undergone an enormous expansion in almost all industrial countries of the world.

RAW MATERIALS : The raw materials constituting the source for chemicals from petroleum may be divided into three categories : (i) gaseous, (ii) liquid and (iii) solid. Following are some of the important raw materials :

Natural gas : Natural gas is composed mainly of methane, ethane, propane, butane, pentane, hexane and higher hydrocarbons. The quantities of pentane and hexane determine what is known as wetness of the gas. Natural gas is found either associated with crude oil or non-associated. The non-associated gas contains little of the pentanes and above hydrocarbons and as such it is called dry gas. Besides the hydrocarbons, natural gas may contain a certain amount of nitrogen, hydrogen sulphide, carbon-dioxide and helium.

Derivatives : Natural gases provide a basis for the manufacture of lower aliphatic petro-chemicals and ammonia, methanol and their end-products and also carbon black.

Sources : Gaseous sources are found in Naharkatiya and Moran oil fields in Assam and Ankleshwar, Kalol and Cambay oil fields in Gujarat. Whilst the gases in the Ankleshwar and Kalol oil fields are wet with a high percentage of carbons the Cambay gas is dry constituting mainly of methane, ethane and small quantities of propane and butanes. The Gujarat gas is likely to be used for the manufacture of ammonia to feed the industry.

Refinery gas : This is the gas produced at various stages in the refinery operations mainly from the straight distillation units and the thermal and catalytic cracking and reforming processes. The cracked gases are generally very rich in olefins and are polymerised to get high octane gasoline where required. They are also a very useful source of petro-chemicals. The distillation gases are generally mostly paraffins and are normally used as fuels in the refinery itself. The refinery gases being rich in butane and propane, have found extensive use as domestic and industrial fuel in liquified form.

The international oil crises has had a decisive impact on the feedstocks for the petro-chemical industry. In India the petro-chemical and fertiliser industries have been planned on the basis of increasing availability of naphtha with the increasing demand for petroleum products. Till the sixties this valuable petroleum product was exported. Its utility as a feedstock for the production of organic chemical and plastics was appreciated in the mid-sixties.

Production & Demand : In 1971 the demand for naphtha was around 1·02 million tonnes against a production of 1·181 million tonnes resulting in the export of 0·15 million tonnes. In 1972 the production and demand had almost levelled off with just a marginal export of 30,000 tonnes of naphtha. In 1973 the demand was almost 1·75 million tonnes against a production of about 1·5 million tonnes, requiring an import of 0·25 million tonnes. If the programmed production of fertiliser and petro-chemicals continues the demand for naphtha by 1976 will be 3·5 million tonnes and by 1978-79 about 4·265 million tonnes.

Uses of Naphtha : Nitrogenous fertiliser is a rapidly growing item in underdeveloped countries. Naphtha reforming yields hydrogen, which is required for the synthesis of ammonia, a basic material in fertiliser production. To produce one tonne of ammonia less than a tonne of naphtha is required.

Olefins are the base for the bulk of petro-chemicals produced. Ethylene is the most important followed by propylene and butane. The cracking of naphtha to produce olefins is a major commercial process. Naphtha crackers are generally so designed as to give variable ratios of olefins according to market requirements of their end products.

Production of aromatics (e.g. benzene, toluene, xylenes, etc.) from naphtha by reforming is another major use of naphtha. Aromatics are used for the production of synthetic fibres, high quality gasoline, etc.

New Naphtha-based industries : Existing four units are at Trombay in Maharashtra, Gorakhpur in Uttar Pradesh, Kota in Rajasthan and Madras in Tamil Nadu. Three fertiliser plants at Goa, Cochin in Kerala and Durgapur in West Bengal were operating at half capacity since they began production in 1973. At full capacity they will consume 500,000 tonnes of naphtha a year. During 1974-75 three more naphtha consuming fertiliser plants are going to be erected at Tuticorin in Tamil Nadu, Mangalore in Karnataka and Barauni in Bihar which will need another 600,000 tonnes.

Naphtha requirements for the petro-chemical industries in Bombay and Gujarat will be about 450,000 tonnes by 1976.

SOME IMPORTANT COMPANIES

Union Carbide India Ltd. : Trombay, Bombay, established the first integrated petro-chemical complex in India in 1966, with a 60,000 tpa naphtha cracker (naphtha from Esso Refinery) and ethylene capacity of 20,000 tpa. There are also plants for polyethylene (15,000 tpa) and 2-ethyl hexanol (3,600 tpa).

National Organic Chemical Industries Ltd. : Thana, Bombay opened a larger petro-chemical complex in 1968 with a naphtha cracker of 225,000 tpa naphtha capacity (from Burmah-Shell Refineries) to produce 60,000 tpa of ethylene, 35,000 tpa of propylene, 7,200 tpa of butadiene and 14,000 tpa of benzene. From these a variety of organic chemicals are produced. Polyolefines Industries Ltd., which produces 24,000 tpa of HDPE is an associated company of NOCIL.

Indian Petro-Chemicals Corpn., Ltd. : It has its first petro-chemical complex near Vadodara, Gujarat — the Rs. 280 million Aromatic Project — which began production in April, 1973. The project uses 112,000 tonnes of special fraction naphtha to produce 24,000 tpa of DMT, 21,000 tpa of ortho-xylene and 2,500 tpa of mixed xylenes. The Corporation will also have near Vadodara a Rs. 319 million naphtha cracker of 450,000 tpa throughput to produce 130,000 tpa of ethylene, 71,000 tpa of propylene, 18,000 tpa of butadiene and 24,000 tpa of benzene. The naphtha cracker is scheduled to be commissioned in 1976-77. The final products from the naphtha cracker will be as follows : Low density polyethylene 80,000 tpa ; polypropylene 30,000 tpa ; polybutadiene rubber 20,000 tpa ; ethylene glycol oxide 20,000 tpa ; detergent alkylate 30,000 tpa : acrylic fibre 12,000 tpa.

The above two projects are located adjacent to the Gujarat Refinery.

The second petro-chemical complex The Bongaigaon Petrochemical Ltd., is being set up at Bongaigaon in Assam, as an adjunct to the one million tonne Bongaigaon Refinery. The petro-chemical complex envisages manufacture of 30,000 tpa of polyester fibre and 10,550 tpa of ortho-xylene. These will require 80,000 tonnes of a special cut naphtha out of which 46,000 tonnes will become available from the Bongaigaon Refinery while the remaining quantity will be obtained from the Gauhati Refinery.

These two petro-chemical complexes are estimated to cost over Rs. 5,000 million.

The IPCL's Research and Development Centre was opened in October, 1973 near Vadodara. It is expected to be completed in 1976-77 at an estimated cost of Rs. 70 million.

(See also the chapter on All India Corporations.)

Caprolactum Plant : Near Vadodara, Gujarat was commissioned in December, 1973 by Gujarat State Fertiliser Corporation to produce 21,000 tpa of caprolactum and 85 tonnes of sulphur dioxide and 85 tonnes of oleum daily. GSFC is also expected to commission 30,000 tpa styrene plant by 1977.

Note : tpa : Tonnes per annum.

PETROLEUM INDUSTRY

(Also see Chapter on "Energy Crisis")

BRIEF HISTORY

REAL foundation of oil industry in the public sector was laid only during the Second Plan period (1956–61) when the Government of India launched a planned programme of exploration, production, refining and distribution. The Oil and Natural Gas Commission was set up in 1956. This measure yielded success in exploration and soon, thereafter, the Government of India decided to create a Ministry of Petroleum and Chemicals in 1963.

Oil exploration had been started by Assam Oil Company/ Burmah Oil Company and their associates as early as the last decade of the 19th Century. However, it remained confined to the Upper Assam region. From 1949 to 1960 the Standard Vacuum Oil Company explored the West Bengal Basin first alone and then with the Government of India as the Indo-Stanvac Petroleum Project. The project, however, did not succeed, though it produced valuable data which has since been made the subject of very detailed studies in the light of advances in technology, achieved since then. So far commercial crude is found only in Assam and Gujarat.

Crude Demand: Present demand for crude in the country is 22 million tonnes of which indigenous Production is only 7 million tonnes. The demand is expected to increase to anything between 32 to 36 million tonnes depending upon the progress made in improving fuel usage and developing substitutes, particularly coal.

Production in Gujarat : About 10,000 tonnes of crude a day or about 3·7 million tonnes per annum.

Foreign Exchange Expenditure : In 1973 a sum of Rs. 3,740 million was allocated for imports of crude and petroleum products. This was reduced in August, 1973, by the Union Cabinet to Rs. 3,240 million.

Price of Imported Crude: As against U.S. $1·28 a barrel in 1970 the price in August, 1973 was U.S. $2·62 has almost quadrupled thereafter in less than 6 months.

Longest Pipeline : Imported crude for Mathura refinery will be piped from the Gulf of Kutch to Mathura a distance of about 1,222 kms. Additionally, a branch pipe line will meet the expansion requirement of the Koyali Refinery.

REFINERIES : There are 9 refineries in operation, two under construction and a twelfth one planned. Of these four are in the private sector — Burmah-Shell, Esso (Now Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd.), Caltex and the Assam Oil Company — and are owned by foreign private oil companies. Esso Refinery has now come under the public sector since the Government has acquired 74 per cent of the equity.

The other five — Gauhati, Barauni, Koyali, Cochin and Madras — are in the public sector. The refineries at Gauhati, Barauni and Koyali are owned by the Indian Oil Corporation whilst Cochin and Madras by two separate refinery companies.

Capacity: At the end of 1972 the total capacity of the 9 refineries was 20 million tonnes — 11·75 in the public sector and 8·25 in the private.

Production : Crude processed during 1973 was 20·51 million tonnes — 11·48 million tonnes in public sector and 9·03 million tonnes in private sector.

Refineries Under Construction : HALDIA (West Bengal), with capacity of 2·5 million tonnes per annum, is estimated to cost Rs. 675·0 million. This is aided by France and Rumania and the trial runs have started from August 30, 1974.

BONGAIGAON (Assam): With capacity of one million tonnes per annum, this refinery is expected to cost Rs. 150 million and will go on stream in 1976.

MATHURA (Uttar Pradesh) : With capacity of 6 million tonnes this refinery is expected to cost Rs. 2,170 million, and expected to go on stream by 1978 and will be the biggest in the country.

Production : ONGC, Oil India Ltd., and Assam Oil Company are the only three agencies doing production work. During the period April to November 1972, the Commission supplied 285·3 million cubic metres of associated and non-associated gas to various consumers.

Oil and Natural Gas Commission (Tel Bhavan, Dehra Dun 248001 U.P.).

The Oil and Natural Gas Commission (ONGC) is India's biggest and the only public sector undertaking engaged in the exploration of hydrocarbons (crude oil and natural gas) resources — both on land as well as off-shore.

The ONGC was set up in August, 1956 and converted into a statutory body in October, 1959, by an Act of Parliament. The Commission has extended its exploration operations to all sedimentary basins (about 1·41 million sq. kms.) of India. It has at present 16 geological, 5 gravity-magnetic and 26 seismic field survey parties, 13 electro-logging parties and 33 deep drilling rigs in operation in various sedimentary basins of the country.

It had undertaken (upto the end of June, 1974) drilling on 124 structures (121 on land and 3 off-shore), of which 106 structures had been fully tested and the remaining were under testing or drilling. Of the 106 fully tested structures, 33 had been found to be oil or gas bearing — 26 in Gujarat, 5 in Assam, and one each in Himachal Pradesh and Rajasthan. This gives a success ratio of 1 : 3·W.

The Commission had by the end of June 1974, completed the drilling of 1,094 wells on these structures, with a total hole depth of 2·25 million metres. Of the 1,094 completed wells, 638 had proved oil and gas bearing.

As a result of drilling, the Commission has been able to discover, on land, 108·66 million tonnes of initial recoverable reserves (proved and probable categories) of crude oil, and a little over 25,000 million cubic metres of natural gas in Gujarat and Assam.

Production Rate : Beginning with 100 tonnes per day (0·04 million tonnes per year) of crude production in September, 1961, the Commission has stepped up it production rate to 11,400 tonnes per day (4·03 million tonnes per year). The current rate of production of natural gas is over 550 million cubic metres per year. By the end of June 1974, it had produced and sold 32·31 million tonnes of crude oil and condensate and 2,841 million cubic metres of natural gas and saved the country over Rs. 4,000 million in foreign exchange.

Off-shore Drilling: The country has approximately 385,000 sq. kms. of off-shore shelf area (where water depth is within 200 metres). The ONGC has carried out surveys in the Gulf of Cambay, Arabian Sea, Gulf of Kutch, Coromandal coast, areas off Krishna-Godavari delta and the south of Sunderbans extending westwards, and have discovered 18 structural features which are favourable for oil accumulation. Drilling of an exploratory deep well, with the help of 'Sagar Samrat' the offshore drilling platform built to order for ONGC in Japan, on the Bombay High (Main) structures, 176 kms. west of Bombay has indicated the presence of oil in commercial quantities at a depth of 962 metres.

Overseas Operations: The Commission is also exploring for and developing oilfields and producing oil in an area in the Persian Gulf, in collaboration with AGIP of Italy, Phillips Petroleum of U.S.A., and the National Iranian Oil Company. The interests of the Commission in this joint venture are looked after by its wholly owned subsidiary company, named, Hydrocarbons India Pvt. Ltd. (HIPL) (D-35 South Ext. Part II, New Delhi 110049).

The operations in the Persian Gulf started in 1965. At present, HIPL's equity share of oil from these two fields is about 0·6 million tonnes per year. Till March, 1974, the crude oil lifted by the HIPL totalled to 24·13 million barrels.

Iraq : The ONGC has secured an area in Iraq for conducting oil exploration, development and production operations, on service-contract basis. The minimum expenditure obligation undertaken on exploration (risk expenditure) is $6·00 million (Rs. 47 million approximately the first phase of seismic survey commenced at the end of March 1974.

Oil India Ltd. (H.O. Duliajan, Upper Assam) : Next to ONGC this is the other major oil producing organisation. It has a 50·50 partnership of the Government of India and Burmah Oil Company. It holds mining leases over an area of 1,990·02 sq. kms. and petroleum exploration licences over an area of 551·668 sq. kms. in Arunachal Pradesh.

Upto the end of Dec. 1973, a total of 267 development wells and 70 exploratory wells with a total meterage of approximately 1·102 million have been drilled.

The company plans to maintain 3·08 million tonnes crude production per year. The production of crude for calendar year 1973 was 3·10 million tonnes. Of this the company supplied 3·09 million tonnes to Indian Oil Corporation's refineries at Gauhati and Barauni and the Assam Oil Company's refinery at Digboi.

Assam Oil Company: (Digboi, Assam). The Assam Oil Company is a wholly owned subsidiary of The Burmah Oil Company and has drilled 1,001 wells, out of which 369 are on production with an annual throughput of 0·083 million metric tonnes of crude oil. The AOC Refinery at Digboi processes 0·53 million tonnes of crude oil annually, the balance crude oil being supplied by Oil India Ltd.

Digboi oilfield is the oldest in India and one of the oldest in the world. It continues to produce crude oil, though at a declining rate. The Assam Oil Company, formed by the Assam Railways and Trading Company Limited in 1889, took over the lease concession granted to both the parent company and the Assam Oil Syndicate in 1899. The Burmah Oil Company acquired control of the company in 1921.

Chairman : N. J. D. Williams.

Indian Oil is constructing three refineries. One at Haldia (West Bengal) with a capacity of 2·5 million tonnes is nearing completion. The second one will be at Bongaigaon in Goalpara district of Assam with a capacity of one million tonnes per annum.

The third refinery is proposed to be set up at Mathura (Uttar Pradesh) with a capacity of 6·0 million tonnes. This will be the biggest in the country.

This Division also lays oil pipelines and manages Gauhati—Siliguri, Haldia—Barauni—Kanpur and Koyali—Ahmedabad pipelines.

Marketing Division with its headquarters in Bombay is responsible for distribution of petroleum products produced by three refineries of IOC and two other public sector refineries at Cochin and Madras.

Started in 1960 it is now the largest marketing organisation. Its market participation in 1972-73 was about 58 per cent as against 54·2 per cent in the previous year. In 1972-73 the Corporation sold about 16 million kilolitres of petroleum products.

Indianoil has put up its own lube blending plant at Madras and has also developed its own drum plant at Madras. It is also developing its Research & Development Centre at Faridabad near Delhi.

Indian Oil International Ltd.: A wholly-owned subsidiary of the IOC operating in Nepal from June 11, 1970 is being wound up in view of the nationalisation of Oil Industry in that country.

Indian Oil Blending Ltd. : Till recently a 50 : 50 joint venture of Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. and Mobil Petroleum Corporation of U.S.A. to operate two lube blending plants in Bombay and Calcutta and a grease manufacturing plant in Bombay is being fully taken over by Indian Oil Corporation Ltd.

Indo-Burma Petroleum Co. Ltd. : (Regd. Off.: Gillander House, N. Subash Rd., Calcutta 700001). It became a subsidiary of the IOC 12th January, 1970, after the Corporation purchased 579,400 ordinary shares from Steel Brothers & Co. Ltd. It markets motor gasoline and diesel oil of the IOC refineries.

The company has also diversified into manufacture of sophisticated electronics equipment (both medical and industrial) and special purpose machinery. In 1972 the company took over the management of Balmer Lawrie Group of Companies.

Burmah-Shell Refineries Ltd. : The refinery was incorporated on Nov. 3, 1952 and commenced operations at Trombay on January 30, 1955. The crude processing capacity of the refinery is around 5·5 million tonnes per annum, the actual intake presently is around 2·5 million tonnes per annum.

The Refinery manufactures motor spirit, kerosene, aviation turbine fuel, high speed diesel oil, light diesel oil, jute batching oil, fuel oil, bitumen, liquefied petroleum gas, special boiling point solvents, refinery gas, aviation gasoline, naphthas, mineral turpentines, carbon black feedstock, hot heavy stock and cutbacks.

The initial cost of the Refinery was about Rs. 260 million and the total number of employees engaged in the various categories at present is around 1,175.

During 20 years of operations, it has increased its capacity from 1·25 million tonnes/year to 3·5 million tonnes/year. It has saved foreign exchange of approximately Rs. 2,000 million so far.

The refinery manufactures a wide range of petroleum products. In addition to major fuels like kerosene, diesel, gasoline, fuel oil, LPG, jet fuel, it has developed through R&D work many other petroleum speciality products.

Lube Refinery : The lube refinery, originally known as Lube India Ltd., a joint sector enterprise between the Government of India and Esso, started operations in late 1969 adjacent to the fuel refinery. Original investment in the plant was Rs. 170 million. The refinery uses as raw material the reduced crude from the fuel refinery. It has been operating at higher than the designed capacity of 164,000 MT/annum.

The second public sector refinery at Barauni in Bihar was commissioned in the second half of 1964. The initial capacity of two million tonnes has been expanded to three million tonnes since Jan. 1969. The foreign exchange cost and technical assistance for the Barauni refinery was met out of the Soviet credit.

SHIPPING INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE earliest evidence of shipping and ship-building activity is found in the archaeological remains of Mohen-jo-daro, in the Indus Valley, dating back to some 3000-5000 B.C. Ever since the shipping and shipbuilding industry has passed through various periods of vicissitudes.

At the time of the country's independence in August, 1947, India had only 48 coastal vessels with 119,000 GRT (gross tonnage) and 11 foreign-going vessels with 73,000 GRT.

Indian Register of Shipping : With offices in Bombay (headquarters), Calcutta, Madras, Cochin and Visakhapatnam this classification society will supervise shipbuilding and when operating, that they are properly maintained. Chief Executive : H. S. Rao.

National Maritime Day : 5th April.

Position Today : On Sept. 1, 1974, there were 3 million tonnes in operation and 2·2 million tonnes on order. By the end of the Fifth Plan (1979) the target fixed is 8·5 million tonnes.

Ranking in the World : Indian merchant fleet by the total GRT occupies the 16th position in the world.

SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY

Two new shipyards for the construction of large ships upto 360,000 DWT are to be constructed in the Fifth Plan period. One firm each from the U.K., Yugoslavia and Norway have been commissioned to choose two sites from the following four: Haldia in West Bengal, Paradeep in Orissa, Curlavangli Vangani in Goa and Hajira in Gujarat.

Merchant Fleet in Operation : On 31st December, 1972, the total merchant fleet consisted of 258 ships of 2,616,859 GRT. The position during 1972 was as follows :

Merchant Navy Training Board : At Jahaz Bhavan, Walchand Hirachand Marg, Bombay 400001, advises the Government on all matters pertaining to the training of merchant navy personnel.

The Government of India has set up six training establishments for the training of merchant navy officers and ratings. The Training Ship. "Dufferin" now replaced by T. S. "Rajendra" provides pre-sea training course of two years for navigating cadets. The new training ship has an intake of 125 cadets, 45 cadets more than the old one. The Directorate of Marine Engineering Training provides a four years' course for engineering cadets. The boys desirous of undergoing training in the two institutions are drawn from all parts of the country through All India Competitive Examination followed by interviews and medical and eyesight tests.

Rules for Entry into T.S. 'Rajendra' and D.M.E.T. are as follows: Age Limit : A candidate must have completed 16 years of age and must not have exceeded 18 years on January 1 of the year of entry. Eligibility : A candidate is eligible, provided he has passed (1) the higher secondary examination either (a) in the science stream with chemistry, mathematics and physics as elective or optional subjects, or (b) in the technical stream, or (2) the pre-university examination with some science group or any equivalent examination, or (3) the Indian School Certificate Examination, or (4) the first year examination of the Inter-Science or F.Sc. course both again with the same elective subjects.

The Lal Bahadur Shastri Nautical and Engineering College at Hay Bunder, Tank Road, Bombay 400033, provides post-sea instructional courses for both navigating and engineering cadets and apprentices who are preparing for Ministry of Transport Certificate of Competency Examinations. There is a Life Boat School attached to the college.

Ratings Training Establishments : The Training Ship "Bhadra" (Calcutta), "Mekhala" (Visakhapatnam) and "Naulakhi" (Navlakhi-Gujarat) are ratings' training establishments. These institutions provide a six months' course for deck and engine ratings. Candidates between the age group 18 to 22 with minimum educational qualification of 8th standard pass are eligible for admission, if medically-found fit. An advertisement is published in all important newspapers in India in different languages once in a year or when necessary for selection of candidates for pre-sea training courses and they are selected on merits after an interview at Bombay by the Director, Seamen's Employment Office and at Calcutta, Navlakhi and Visakhapatnam by the respective Captain Superintendents of the training ships according to the number required each year.

Recruitment of Seamen : Seamen's Employment Offices were set up in Bombay and Calcutta to regulate the supply of seamen to foreign-going vessels on the principle of rotation.

The number of seamen available on 30th November, 1972 for employment on foreign-going ships was 29,617 at Bombay and 11,870 at Calcutta. The number of jobs available, however, were 19,314 in Bombay and 6,384 in Calcutta.

On Home Trade ships the number of seamen available were 1,084 at Bombay for 644 jobs and 216 at Calcutta for 129 jobs.

Seamen's Welfare : The seamen's welfare offices at the ports of Bombay, Calcutta, Madras and overseas at Sydney, London, Liverpool and Glasgow take care of the welfare of Indian seamen. The Principal Seamen's Welfare Officer at London has the additional duties of finding jobs for Indian seamen on foreign-owned ships. His jurisdiction is entire Europe.

Inland Water Transport : In order to harness all possible modes of transport for easier and faster movement of goods the Government is considering the development of inland water transport system. If the 36 main proposals made by the expert committee under the chairmanship of Mr. B. Bhagwati in its report submitted in October 1970, are to be implemented the expected outlay would be Rs. 124·22 million during the Fourth Plan and Rs. 148·90 million during the Fifth Plan period. The scheme is being studied by the Government.

SILK INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY : Sericulture in India fall into two sectors, mulberry and non-mulberry. Mulberry silk industry is better organised and accounts for nearly two-thirds of the natural silk production. The non-mulberry sector comprises of tasar, eri and muga silk. India is thus, the only country in the world which produces all the four commercially known varieties of natural silk.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY: Andhra Pradesh: Produces mulberry, tasar and eri. Mulberry in the Anantapur and Chittoor districts, eri in Mahbubnagar and Kurnool while tasar in the forest regions along the banks of the river Godavari in Karimnagar, Warangal, Srikakulam and Adilabad districts. About 13,000 persons are employed.

Assam : Produces muga, eri and mulberry raw silk mostly in Goalpara, Kamrup and Nowgong districts. Sibsagar is prominent for mulberry production. It is estimated that about 360,000 people derive their livelihood from silk cultivation.

Due to the formation of Meghalaya, most of the sericultural centres were bifurcated.

Bihar : Bihar is the second largest producer of tasar silk nearly 63 to 64 per cent of production mainly in the districts of Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Singhbhum, Chota Nagpur, Palamau, and Santhal Parganas. About 100,000 people derive their livelihood.

Jammu & Kashmir : The univoltine mulberry silk industry is mainly located in Anantnag, Baramulla, Doda, Jammu, Reasi and Udhampur districts. It provides employment to about 38,000 persons.

Karnataka : It is the biggest multivoltine mulberry silk producing State in India contributing over three-fourths of the total production. The industry is concentrated in the districts of Bangalore, Kolar, Mandya, Mysore and Tumkur and to a small extent in Belgaum and Coorg. Tasar production has been started in North Canara and Belgaum districts. About 2 million are gainfully employed.

Madhya Pradesh : Is the second largest producer of tasar silk in the country. It is largely based in the districts of Balaghat, Bastar, Bilaspur, Raigarh, and Surguja. Mulberry is also cultivated to a small extent in Surguja, Chindwara, Indore, and Sehore districts, and provides subsidiary occupation to nearly 39,000 families.

Maharashtra : Bhandara and Chandrapur districts have traditional tasar culture and there is one tasar seed farm at Armori ; it has also taken up eri culture and mulberry production on experimental basis. 15,000 persons are estimated to be employed by the industry.

Meghalaya : Mulberry, eri and muga silk are being produced in the Khasi and Garo hill districts providing employment to 6,000 persons.

Orissa : Tasar and eri silk is concentrated in Mayurbhanj and Keonghar districts where about 10,000 people are employed.

Punjab : Mulberry silk is produced mainly in the districts of Amritsar, Gurdaspur, Hoshiarpur and to some extent in Ferozepur.

Tamil Nadu : The sericultural industry is confined to the districts of Coimbatore, Nilgiris, Salem, Tirunelveli and Dharampuri. It provides employment to about 36,000 people.

Uttar Pradesh : Mulberry silk is cultivated in Dehra Dun, Etawah, Garhwal, Gorakhpur, Nainital and Saharanpur. Ericulture is carried on in Rampur and Deoria and tasar culture in Mirzapur district. About 5,500 persons are employed.

West Bengal : Is the second largest mulberry silk producing State in the country, accounting for over 20 per cent of the total output. It is concentrated in the districts of Bankura, Birbhum, Darjeeling, Malda and Murshidabad. About 400,000 persons are employed.

Himachal Pradesh : Rears univoltine mulberry silkworms in Kangra district. The other regions where sericulture is practised are Sirmur and Mandi districts. 10,000 persons earn their livelihood.

Manipur: Has both mulberry and eri silk cultivation and potential for tasar culture. About 3,000 persons are employed. A target of 510,000 kgs. of tasar silk by the end of the Fifth Plan has been fixed.

Tripura : Sericulture has been recently introduced. Some 2,600 persons have taken up silk cultivation.

Union Territories : Mulberry and eri industries have also been introduced in Arunachal Pradesh, Mizoram and Nagaland where about 4,600 people are gainfully employed.

Ranking in the World Market : With a production of 2,400 tonnes of mulberry silk and 675 tonnes of wild silk in 1973-74 India continued to rank fifth among the silk producing countries of the world accounting for slightly over 5 per cent of the world production. However, India is the only country in the world where the fabulously famed golden "Muga Silk" is raised and is also the second largest producer of tasar silk, next only to the People's Republic of China.

SPICES

INDIA has always been the traditional home of spices and has throughout history been associated with their trade. It was for spices that men from strange lands came to the shores of India and bartered their wares. Since then, spices figure in the country's exports.

Indian spices are of the finest quality and today the demand for them has considerably increased in all countries.

PEPPER

Pepper, known as the "King of Spices", is the most important foreign exchange earner. The Indian black pepper is considered to be superior in quality and fetches a better export price.

Pepper production in India accounts for 25 to 30 per cent of the total world production of about 100,000 tonnes and, more than 80 per cent of it is exported.

The State-wise break-up of area and production for the year 1973-74 is given in the chapter on 'Agriculture'.

Export of pepper during 1973-74 totalled 30,718 tonnes valued at Rs. 289·26 million.

Per hectare yield of pepper is about 220 kgs. The internal consumption of pepper in 1972-73 was 6,132 tonnes.

An annual production target of 38,000 tonnes has been fixed at the end of the Fifth Plan period. So far only 'whole' pepper was being exported. Of late, green pepper, pepper powder and pepper oleoresin have got demand in the importing countries.

CARDAMOM

Cardamom, known as the ' Queen of Spices" earns the second highest amount of foreign exchange. India exports about 90 per cent of the world output.

The state-wise break-up of area and production for 1973–74 is as follows :

State	Area ('000 hectares)	Production ('000 tonnes)
Kerala	47·50	1·30
Karnataka	23·60	1·20
Tamil Nadu	5·40	0·40
Total ..	76·50	2·90

Exports during 1971–72 amounted to 2,225 tonnes valued at Rs. 81·97 million; in 1972–73 to 1,451 tonnes valued at Rs. 69·48 million and in 1973–74 to 1,800 tonnes valued at Rs. 110·09 million.

Per hectare yield of cardamom is about 40 kgs.

GINGER

India is the leading ginger producing country and accounts for about 50 per cent of dry ginger output in the world.

Area and Production of Ginger during 1973-74 is given in the chapter on 'Agriculture'.

By exporting 5,066 tonnes of ginger, India earned foreign exchange worth Rs. 25·07 million during 1973-74.

Besides dry ginger, giner oleoresin and ginger oil are also exported at present.

Per hectare yield of ginger is about 1,439 kgs. The internal consumption of ginger in 1972-73 was 27,032 tonnes which included the import of 162 tonnes.

CHILLIES

The cultivation of chillies is widely scattered throughout the country. Its annual consumption varies from region to region, ranging from about 3·5 kgs. per adult in Andhra Pradesh to around 5 kgs. per adult in Maharashtra. In Punjab, Bihar, U.P. and Orissa consumption is lower. The state-wise break-up of area and production for the year 1973-74 is given in the chapter on 'Agriculture'.

Through exports of 368 tonnes of chillies the country earned foreign exchange worth Rs. 2·47 million during 1973–74.

Per hectare yield of chillies is about 602 kgs. The internal consumption of chillies in 1972–73 was 407,219 tonnes.

TURMERIC

The major turmeric growing States in India are Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Bihar, Tamil Nadu and Orissa. The state-wise break-up of area and production of turmeric during 1973-74 is given in the chapter on 'Agriculture'.

Turmeric has surpassed chillies in the spices trade by becoming the third largest foreign exchange earner.

The exports of turmeric during 1973-74 amounted to 7,192 tonnes and fetched Rs. 33·20 million by way of foreign exchange.

Per hectare yield of turmeric is about 2,041 kgs. The internal consumption of turmeric in 1972-73 was 132,944 tonnes which included the imports of 75 tonnes.

OTHER SPICES :

Other items of spices which are exported from India are coriander seed, celery seed, fenugreek, ani seed, cassia, cumin, curry powder, fennel seed, garlic and bay leaf. Besides whole spices, oil of celery, ajowan, cardamom, giner, pepper, ani-seed, cinnamon, garlic and oleoresin of capsicum, ginger, pepper and fenugreek are also produced in India.

EXPORTS

India's spices exports have increased from Rs. 166 million in 1960-61 to Rs. 524·65 million in 1973-74.

The following quantities of oleoresins of pepper, capsicum, ginger and fenugreek were exported during 1972–73.

IMPORTS

Spices worth Rs. 8·25 million were imported into India during 1972–73 as against Rs. 8·75 million during 1971–72.

GENERAL

Grading of spice commodities according to Agmark specifications has been made compulsory under the Sea Customs Act for export trade.

Regulated Markets : With a view to preventing exploitation of producers and getting better prices for their produce, several markets have been regulated under Agricultural Produce Market Act. About 644 markets for chillies, 331 markets for turmeric, 283 for garlic, 129 for giner, 183 for cumin and 345 for other spices have already been regulated in different States of India.

Research : The research work on spices is being carried out at the Central Plantation Crops Research Institute (I.C.A.R.) Kasaragod and its Regional and Sub-stations.

Development: The Central Government has constituted an Indian Spices Development Council consisting of Government officials and non-officials representing the growers and the traders. It reviews the work of development already in progress and recommends further development programmes. These programmes are implemented through the Directorate of Arecanut & Spices Development functioning at 1/500, Cannanore Road, Calicut 673005, Kerala.

A world pepper community has been formed with India, Indonesia and Malaysia, the major producing countries, as members.

FIFTH FIVE YEAR PLAN

Adoption of intensive cultivation practices such as proper manuring, plant protection, irrigation etc., increase in area and adoption of high yielding improved varieties are some of the measures proposed for the development of spices. For the development of tree spices (clove and nutmeg) in which the country is not self-sufficient schemes for production and distribution of seedlings have been proposed.

STEEL INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

ALTHOUGH India occupied a pre-eminent position in iron and steel making in the ancient world, the industry on modern lines is only sixty years old. It came into existence with the launching of the Tata Iron and Steel Works at Jamshedpur, Bihar in 1907. Before this, a number of attempts were made in different parts of India to start the industry by both private companies and the Government, but none of these was even moderately successful.

The Jamshedpur steel works went into operation by stages in 1911-12. In 1919 Indian Iron and Steel Company established a unit near Asansol, West Bengal. Meanwhile the first unit in the public sector was put up in Karnataka on the banks of river Bhadra. Production in Mysore Iron and Steel Works began in 1923.

Upto the end of Second World War these three were the only main units in India producing 1·7 million tonnes of pig iron and a million tonnes of steel ingots annually.

Holding Company. The Steel Authority of India Ltd. was set up under the Companies Act on 24th January, 1973, to provide co-ordinated development of both the private and the public sectors.

In August, 1973, SAIL set about restructuring the management of all its subsidiaries so that each unit would have its own board of management with more autonomy.

Expansion Programmes : Because of financial and material constraints the expansion programme during the Fifth Plan was expected to be less ambitious. Major contribution to additional production would come from the expansion of the Bhilai and Bokaro plants.

During the Fifth Plan period Bhilai would be expanded from 2·5 to 4 million tonnes and Bokaro from 1·7 to 4·75 million tonnes.

By 1978-79 the demand for finished steel is likely to be about 10 million tonnes which would be met by the expansions in the present integrated plants and production for electric furnaces.

Private Sector

Tata Iron and Steel Company Ltd. (Head Office: Bombay House, Bruce Street, Bombay 400001) produces a variety of semi-finished and finished steel items like blooms, billets, tin bars, skelp, rails, structurals, plates and sheets.

The feasibility report submitted by Nippon Steel Corporation of Japan estimates the cost of expanding the Company's capacity from 2 million tonnes a year to 5 million tonnes a year would be about Rs. 18,000 million. The proposal is being considered by a Union Government Steering Committee.

The expansion cost includes the cost of developing the company's ore mines and collieries, power generating capacity and a large raw material bleeding and blending yard at Jamshedpur.

Indian Iron & Steel Company Ltd., (Head Office: 12, Mission Row, Calcutta 700001) has a rated capacity of one million tonnes of steel ingots. It manufactures billets, bars, rods, rails, structurals and sheets.

The decline in the production forced the Government to take over management for two years from 14th July, 1972.

The production figures for December, 1974 were : 75,000 tonnes hot metal ; 53,000 tonnes ingot steel ; 42,000 tonnes saleable steel.

Public Sector

Besides the steel plants at Bhilai (Madhya Pradesh), Rourkela (Orissa) and Durgapur (West Bengal) which come under Hindustan Steel Limited there is the Bokaro Steel Ltd. in Bihar which is being constructed with the help of the Government of USSR since 1966. The agreement was signed on January 25, 1965. The first blast furnace complex was commissioned on October 3, 1972. Upto the end of February 1973, 240,157 tonnes of pig iron has been produced. The entire complex is expected to be completed by 1977-78.

The hot strip mill of the Bokaro plant was to be commissioned in June, 1975. The capacity will be 3·365 million tonnes a year at the four million tonne stage of the plant.

There is also the Mysore Iron and Steel Ltd. at Bhadravati, Karnataka.

New Steel Plants : The Salem Steel Plant is estimated to cost Rs. 5,180 million according to the Consulting Engineers, Messrs. M. N. Dastur & Co. A Committee is studying the report and would make its recommendations to the Steel Authority of India. 3,704 acres of land had already been acquired and production in the first phase is expected to begin by December, 1978.

Investment decisions on the other two plants — Visakhapatnam (Andhra Pradesh), and Vijaynagar (Karnataka — is expected to be taken after a thorough study of plant capacity, product-mix and capital and operation costs. Production in these plants is expected to begin early in the Sixth Plan. A Rs. 150 million plant for making steel from basic iron ore is being built in Chandrapur, Chanda Dist., Maharashtra. The plant is expected to begin production in June, 1976.

PRODUCTION

Production of saleable steel during 12 months ended March 31, 1975, reached 4·89 million tonnes.

The 1974-75 production showed an increase of 540,000 tonnes over 1973-74, representing an increase of 12·4 per cent.

SUGAR INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

SUGAR manufacture in India got a spurt after the Government granted it protection in 1932. From dependence on imports the country became self-sufficient within four years thereafter.

In 1931-32 there were an estimated 32 working units. By 1935-36 the number rose to 130. The volume of sugar production which was 162,000 tonnes in 1931-32 increased to 947,000 tonnes by 1935-36.

During all the Plan periods the industry exceeded the targets fixed. There was a seasonal setback, however, in 1966-67 when production dropped sharply because large tracts of cane had withered in the drought conditions that hit most sugar producing States.

The Government had introduced partial decontrol of sugar in 1967-68.

It is the second largest industry second only to textiles.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY : Area under sugarcane cultivation in major producing states in 1973-74 was as follows : (in '000 hectares) Andhra Pradesh : 153·5; Bihar : 148·0; Haryana : 150·0; Karnataka : 109·1; Maharashtra : 161·1; Punjab : 112·0; Tamil Nadu : 149·1; Uttar Pradesh : 1,472·7; Total All India : 2,722·4.

Andhra Pradesh (17); Assam (1); Bihar (26); Goa (1); Gujarat (8); Haryana (3); Karnataka (15); Kerala (3); Madhya Pradesh (6); Maharashtra (45); Nagaland (1); Orissa (3); Pondicherry (1); Punjab (6); Rajasthan (3); Tamil Nadu (15); Uttar Pradesh (74); West Bengal (1); Total (230).

The total installed capacity in 1972-73 season was 4·15 million tonnes.

Public Sector : Up to the end of 1970 there were no factories in the public sector. The Government of Uttar Pradesh had been considering the nationalisation of the Industry in that State but no further action had been taken in the matter till the end of 1971. The U.P. Vidhan Sabha had on August 16, 1971, passed the Sugar Undertakings Acquisition Bill under which the State government acquired 12 "sick" mills of which 7 were subsequently returned to the owners.

No. of Persons Employed : The Industry employs about 250,000 workers and about 25 million agriculturists are connected with it. The annual wage bill works out to about Rs. 700 million.

Capital Investment : A total of about Rs. 6,000 million is invested in this industry.

PRODUCTION AND CONSUMPTION : Comparative figures of production and consumption of sugar for the last three years are :

EXPORTS: India first entered the world market as an exporter in 1957. Since then the industry has become a major foreign exchange earner. In the year 1970-71 Government decided to export the full quota of 325,000 tonnes under the International Sugar Agreement and NPQ quota. However, in 1971-72, due to decline in sugar production, the export was restricted to 100,000 tonnes under the NPQ and U.S. quota.

The Sugar production picked up in 1972-73 and so did the export prices. Taking the advantage, the Government exported, during the calendar year 1973, about 248,000 tonnes of Sugar earning foreign exchange worth Rs. 422 million. During the year 1974, 500,000 tonnes of sugar were exported earning an estimated foreign exchange worth Rs. 3,000 million, highest earned by any single commodity.

The figures for exports over the last four years are as follows :

1970-71 : 325,000 tonnes ; 1971-72 : 100,000 tonnes ; 1972-73 : 248,000 tonnes and 1973-74 (Estimated) : 500,000 tonnes.

GENERAL: On 25th May, 1971 Government decontrolled the sugar. However, a partial control was reimposed with effect from 1st July, 1972, the proportion between levy and free being 60 : 40. However for the season 1972-73 Government reduced the share of free sugar to 30 leaving the balance 70 per cent for levy. The same position was maintained for the season 1973-74.

Training : The Sugar Industry gives practical training facilities to students of sugar technology and also trains a number of apprentices, as required under the Apprentices Act.

National Sugar Institute at Grand Trunk Rd., Kanpur 208001, Uttar Pradesh conducts courses in sugar technology, besides many other agricultural universities which have this as a subsidiary subject.

Research is coducted at the Sugar-cane Research Institute at Anakapalle, Andhra Pradesh and at the Institute of Sugar-cane Research, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh.

National Federation of Co-operative Sugar Factories Ltd., L-8, South Extension Part II, New Delhi 110 049 was set up in December 1960, with the object of co-ordinating and facilitating the working of co-operative sugar factories, State and zonal federations and to assist in the promotion of new co-operative sugar factories.

So far, licences/letters of intent have been issued for establishment of 174 co-operative sugar factories. Of these 91 sugar factories are in operation. Others are in various stages of establishment. In the year 1973-74, the co-operative sugar factories produced 1·55 million tonnes of sugar which was 39·4 per cent of the total production in the country in that year.

TEA INDUSTRY

CHINA is believed to be the original home of the tea plant where it was first introduced as a medicine.

In 1823 the tea plant was discovered growing wild in Assam. It was then that China lost its monopoly of tea trade. The East India Company sent the first shipment of eight chests of Assam tea which were sold in London in May, 1834.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY

The two main tea-growing regions in India are North-East India and South India the break up of which is given in Table I.

There were 571 tea companies during 1971-72.

No. of Persons Employed: The estimated daily average labour employed during 1971 (provisional) was as follows : Total North India : 614,821 ; Total South India : 151,772 ; Total All India : 766,593.

PRODUCTION

India's tea production is the largest in the world. Table II gives the State-wise break-up of the production.

Auction Centres : Indian tea is sold through auction centres at Calcutta and Cochin, which are also the major ports for export of tea where nearly 160 m. kgs. and 60 m. kgs. of tea respectively is sold annually. Tea is sold at these two auctions under competitive conditions and buyers from all countries of the world participate either directly or through their agents.

A new auction centre was started at Gauhati, Assam, from September, 1970.

About 70 to 75 m. kgs. of Indian tea is sold through the London auction centre, major portion of which is meant for consumption in the U. K.

The Central Government earns about Rs. 320 million annually on tea through the customs and central excise.

Instant Tea : The production of instant tea in India is from green leaf rather than from manufactured black tea, as is the practice in the U.S.A. It is manufactured in India by Tata Finlay Ltd. and Food Specialities Ltd. exclusively for exports.

Research : The Toklai Experimental station in Assam is considered to be one of the largest research establishments in the world dedicated entirely to tea. The United Planters' Association of Southern India (address : Coonoor, Tamil Nadu) has its own tea experimental station in Nilgiri Hills. Facilities for tea research in south India are at the Central Laboratory and Field Station in the Anamallis and a sub-station in Kerala. The scientific problems of the tea industry in the Kangra Valley are looked into by a Tea Experimental Farm located at Palampur. All these tea research establishments in India receive substantial financial assistance from the Government through the Tea Board of India (address : 14, Brabourne Road, Calcutta-700001) which also maintains a close liaison with these institutions. The Tea Board also sponsors and finances independent research projects at different Universities and technical institutions to supplement the work of the various tea research establishments in the country.

Assam Tea Corporation : A state-owned corporation was formed in 1971 to buy up a number of sick tea gardens and to make them financially viable again.

FIFTH FIVE YEAR PLAN

As against the annual target of 1 per cent growth rate, the achievement has been only between 0·5 to 0·8 per cent in the last two decades, with the result the fourth plan production target of 460 m. Kgs. was not achieved.

Originally it was planned to increase tea exports to 256 m. Kgs. by 1978-79, but according to the present indications, the fourth plan target of 225 to 250 m. Kgs. of exports may not be achieved.

TOBACCO INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

ALTHOUGH the official history of the development of tobacco on commercial scale in this country dates back to the advent of the Portuguese in the early 17th century, large number of references to tobacco in Puranic tales and the Ayurveda show that tobacco was known to India from times immemorial.

The black porous soil in certain parts of east India, throughout the Coromandel coast, particularly Guntur, East and West Godavari and Prakasam districts of Andhra are considered to be favourable to the growth of quality grades of tobacco.

LOCATION OF THE INDUSTRY: The table below gives the area under tobacco cultivation in the important tobacco growing States for the last three years.

The present total number of cigarette factories in the private sector is 17, of which 6 are in Maharashtra, 3 in Andhra Pradesh, 2 each in West Bengal and Uttar Pradesh and 1 each in Karnataka, Bihar, Madhya Pradesh and Gujarat. Recently letters of intent have been issued to set up 6 new cigarette factories. The cigar industry is concentrated in Tamil Nadu, whilst the production of bidis is a cottage industry on a country-wide basis.

There are about 19 zerda (chewing tobacco) manufacturing factories and 3 snuff factories in the country situated mostly in Tamil Nadu and Uttar Pradesh.

Public Sector: The State Industrial Development Corporations of Assam, Haryana, Jammu and Kashmir, Kerala and Tamil Nadu have each been issued a letter of intent to set up a cigarette manufacturing unit. Each unit will have a capacity of 4,500 million cigarettes annually, except the unit in Assam which will have a capacity to produce 3,000 million pieces per year. An application from the Madhya Pradesh Industrial Development Corporation is reported to be under consideration.

No. of Persons Employed: It is estimated that about 700,000 growers and 500,000 curers are engaged in tobacco cultivation. In the manufacturing sector, the total number of persons employed is estimated at 3 million of which, 2 million are in the bidi industry. About 14,000 are employed in the cigarette industry.

Ranking in the World Market: India is the third most important tobacco producing country next only to U.S.A. and Mainland China and accounts for about 8 per cent of the total world tobacco production.

Consumption of cigarettes in India was expected to reach 85,000 million by 1974. In 1971 it was estimated that the number of smokers in India was 20 million.

Tobacco in Each Cigarette: A regular ordinary cigarette of 7 mm length contains 1·05 gm. to 1·12 gm. of tobacco.

IMPORTS

The quantity and value of tobacco (manufactured, unmanufactured and cigarettes) imported into India during the past four years are given in the table below:

Year	Quantity (in thousand Kgs.)	Value (Rupees in Million)
1970-71	38	0·22
1971-72	122	0·40

GENERAL

The nicotine content in flue-cured virginia tobacco grown in India ranges between 0·6 per cent to 3 per cent. Nicotine content is lower in Virginia tobacco grown in light soil areas and high in tobacco grown in heavy black soil.

Tobacco is an excisable commodity and its movements, processing and manufacture from the stage of harvesting till it is consumed or exported are controlled by the Central Board of Excise and Customs of the Ministry of Finance.

Different rates of duties are levied for different types and modes of consumption. The excise revenue collected during 1971-72 was Rs. 3,089 million. Customs duties totalled about Rs. 47 million.

Research: Research programmes on tobacco are implemented by the Indian Council of Agricultural Research. The Council has initiated an All India Co-ordinated Research Project on tobacco with its headquarters at Anand (Gujarat) with a view to conducting research for all round improvement of Indian tobacco.

The Central Tobacco Research Institute at Rajahmundry in Andhra Pradesh is mainly devoted to the investigation of fundamental problems connected with various aspects of tobacco. It also co-ordinates the work of other tobacco experimental farms and research stations (listed below), spread all over the country, which are carrying out research on different types of tobacco grown in the concerned regions.

1. Tobacco Research Station, Guntur, Andhra Pradesh.
2. Tobacco Research Station, Hunsur, Karnataka.
3. Tobacco Research Station, Vedasandur, Tamil Nadu.

4. Tobacco Research Station, Pusa, Bihar.
5. Tobacco Research Station, Dinhata, West Bengal.
6. Bidi Tobacco Research Scheme, Anand (Gujarat).
7. Bidi Tobacco Research Station, Nipani, Karnataka.

A well organised extension service operates in the tobacco growing areas under the control of Agricultural Departments of the State Governments for educating and training the farmers in the improved methods of harvesting, handling and curing of tobacco.

India Tobacco Co. Ltd., and their sister concern Indian Leaf Tobacco Development Co. Ltd. are conducting research on various aspects of tobacco at their research centre in Rajahmundry, Andhra Pradesh. Recently the company has established an integrated research centre at Bangalore.

The Indian Tobacco Development Council of the Government, formulates the tobacco development programmes, reviews the progress and considers the problems of marketing, trade and price policy.

The Tambaku Vikas Nideshalaya (Directorate of Tobacco Development) in the Ministry of Agriculture, with its headquarters at 3-A, Eldams Rd., Teynampet, Madras 600018, implements the development schemes, channels Government finances and renders technical advise and guidance.

The average Per Hectare Yield of tobacco in India during the last few years is given in the table below :—

Year	All tobacco	Virginia tobacco
1969-70	770	590
1970-71	810	605
1971-72	914	804
1972-73	838	706

According to the information compiled by the Tobacco Research Station, the cost of cultivation of FCV tobacco which is the main exportable variety, is estimated to range between Rs. 1,750 to Rs. 1,875 per hectare which does not include cost on account of land rent, depreciation, interest on capital etc.

WOOLLEN INDUSTRY

BRIEF HISTORY

THE woollen industry is one of the few manufacturing sectors which has made rapid strides in recent years. Although the first unit was set up more than a century ago, there was no significant expansion till the beginning of the fifties. From hardly 16 units in the organised sector of the industry in 1950, there are now 102 mills in the country with an installed capacity of 236,608 spindles.

The Indian Woollen Industry comprises of an organised sector and a wide range of decentralised sectors. The latter represents the traditional handicraft skills in design and execution as a domestic industry and the former represents the modern sophisticated production techniques and management.

Wool and Woollen Export Promotion Council

Address : Churchgate Chambers, 5, New Marine Lines, Bombay 400020.

IMPORTS

The production performance of the woollen industry is heavily dependent upon imported raw wool and wool tops. The industry was allotted Rs. 150 million of foreign exchange during 1973-74. However, the industry supplemented its raw material requirements by way of export promotion entitlements.

The trend in imports of raw wool during 1969-70 to 1972-73 was as follows (Quantity in million kgs. and value in million Rs. respectively): 1969-70 : 18·40, 165·18 ; 1970-71 : 19·05, 151·28 ; 1971-72 : 16·89, 117·84 ; 1972-73 : 10·07, 89·13.

GENERAL

Combing capacity in the industry needs to be expanded to meet the demands. Though the present capacity is about 18·14 million kgs. only 13·61 million kgs. was really effective. The combing requirement in terms of quantity works out to about 20·41 million kgs. There is a clear gap of about 6·8 million kgs.

Newly set up Gujarat Sheep and Wool Development Corporation at Anand Bldg., Mirzapur Rd., Ahmedabad 380001, will help the industry to produce quality wool by a cross-breeding programme for upgrading local sheep through regular supply of acclimatised exotic rams. To a great extent this will reduce imports of quality wool and improve prospects of self-sufficiency.

International Wool Secretariat at 41 New Marine Lines, Bombay 400020, is a non-commercial non-profit organisation with headquarters at London. Financed by subscriptions from the largest wool producing concerns round the world it helps the Indian Woollen Industry in all its problems such as economic, research, planning etc.

Research : Central Sheep and Wool Research Institute at Malpura (88 kms. from Jaipur) in Rajasthan, is run by the Indian Council for Agricultural Research and is partly aided technically and financially by F.A.O. Situated on a 1,618 hectares farm, its main programme is research and training facilities in sheep husbandry, better utilisation of land, wool shearing, grading, testing, technology and processing. It also trains key personnel, instructors, supervisors, managers and research workers.

Two sub-stations for sheep rearing and cross breeding are run by the Institute, one at Kulu (H.P.) and the other at Kodaikanal (T.N.).

Wool Research Association at SASMIRA, A-Besant Rd., Bombay 400025, is set up by the industry in collaboration with CSIR. It mostly deals with research on wool yarn and fibre and its application to different commodities, improvement of the quality of fabrics etc.

Association : Indian Woollen Mills' Federation, Churchgate Chambers, 5, New Marine Lines, Bombay 400020.

In the world of the computer...

Additions at the rate of 100,000 a second! Pulses travel over eight inches of wire in less than one-billionth of a second!

There's no denying the computer is here to stay. It can sing, play chess and even start a war! Soon it will be used as casually as a telephone. Microminiaturization? Nanosecond? What do they mean to the lay man?

Baffled by the complexity? Deterred by the technical terms? Not, if you read Science Today.

Science Today stands between you and the jargon.
